Debate Blocks A-Bill

Marathon Arguments In Senate Keep Ike's Law Tied Up; Seek to Force Break

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A GOP move to bar use of Atomic Energy Commission funds for construction of commercial power plants today shot new heat into the marathon Senate debate on the administration's atomic bill.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), floor manager for the bill, proposed the ban even as GOP leaders were trying desperately to force an end to the talkathon which, for all practical purposes, has gone on continuously since 10 a.m. Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A paralyzing marathon debate kept the Eisenhower administration's atomic bill deadlocked in the Senate today, with GOP leaders trying desperately to force a break.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican floor leader, filed a motion to invoke cloture—the parliamentary term for a time-limit muzzle on a non-stop debate—shortly after midnight.

But the four-times-round-the-clock session passed its 48-hour mark—interrupted by only a single 25 minute recess—without much sign the break was even in sight.

Under the rules, a vote on cloture is impossible before Sunday morning, and Knowland said he does not look for it to come to a ballot before Monday.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), a leader of the opposition to the bill, predicted in the debate that Knowland's move would fail. And he taunted GOP leaders over the licking they suffered late yesterday when an amendment by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) was adopted.

The Johnson amendment would authorize government construction of atomic plants to produce commercial electric power. GOP leaders said the administration did not want to put the government in the atomic power business.

Gore glibly that Knowland had carried the petition for cloture around in his pocket all day yesterday, threatening to file it, and he added:

"He said he couldn't get a vote. Well, we gave you a vote and we beat you on the amendment and we'll beat you on the cloture petition."

"It's an idle threat."

The senators themselves were weary and drawn. One of the northern reporters who takes down the debate for the Congressional Record collapsed at 8 a.m. He was Gregory MacPherson, 55, who had just come on duty after a short rest. MacPherson was taken to a hospital.

This is the 10th day of debate, with the Republican leaders bitterly accusing principal Democratic opponents of a filibuster attempt to "sabotage" both the bill and other important items on the administration's legislative program in these closing weeks of the 1954 Congress session.

The marathon session which began at 10 a.m. Wednesday morning broke off briefly during the wee hours. But 25 minutes later the orators were at it again, with no end yet in sight.

To Start Natural Gas Line Monday To Serve Clinton

Missouri Public Service Company will begin construction of a 10-inch natural gas pipe line to Clinton next Monday morning, a company official said today.

The company has been working on the necessary studies and regulatory approvals for the past year.

Thursday the last step was taken by the Federal Power Commission to give Missouri Public Service Company final authority to construct the line.

Natural gas will be available to citizens of Clinton this coming heating season.

The company also expects to realize a saving by burning natural gas in its electric generating station at Clinton.

Missouri Public Service Company officials are now in Washington, D. C., presenting it's case to the Federal Power Commission in an effort to obtain natural gas for citizens of 15 towns in North Central Missouri.

Let's Wash the Car

If we thought the old adage about washing the car and getting rain was the real McCoy, we'd suggest the mayor proclaim a certain day next week for everybody to wash their family car.

Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday. Cooler tonight. High Saturday near 90. Low tonight near 65.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 72; 91 at 1 p. m. and 92 at 2 p. m.

One year ago today here high 92, low 60; two years ago 94, 77; three years ago 84, 69 with 60 inch rainfall.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks: 55.2, steady.

Dewey Short Faces His Greatest Vote Test And Eyes of the State Focus on This Race

By C. W. JOHNSON
(Managing Editor, Springfield Daily News)

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The eyes of Missouri, it seems, are focused upon the Ozark hill of the southwestern corner of the state, come primary election day, August 3.

There the dean of Missouri's congressional delegation, Dewey Short, faces perhaps the most serious threat he has encountered since he was first sent to Washington 22 years ago. His opponent is Noel Cox, himself a veteran political campaigner with a record of 10 years in the state Senate.

By the close of next week, each candidate will have carried his campaign into every one of the 17 counties comprising the 7th Congressional District; in fact, they will have appeared personally in perhaps every town and crossroads hamlet in the area—and through the medium of television will have carried their appeals into a good many homes, as well.

His long record of service in the office makes Short a favorite to gain the Republican nomination, virtually assuring him of re-election.

Call Builder To Testify On His Loans

To Be Questioned On Two Projects In Washington, D.C.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Samuel J. Rodman, a New York builder who profited from erecting apartments with government-insured loans acknowledged today that his wife, Bella, refused to tell a House Committee in 1949 whether she was a member of the Communist party.

Rodman made the admission as Senate Banking Committee members were told that he repaid $367,000 in profits from the construction of the Atlantic Gardens and Chesapeake Gardens developments in southeast Washington.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate housing investigators today summoned a New York builder, Samuel J. Rodman, for questioning about two apartment projects built in the nation's capital with government-insured loans.

The banking committee, headed by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), is in the midst of an investigation of what members term excessive profits made by builders of big apartment projects. These profits resulted from the most part from the difference between loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration and construction costs which were lower.

Testimony has been that many promoters pocketed the difference. Committee sources named Rodman's two housing projects here as Atlantic Gardens and Chesapeake Gardens.

In the hearings, due to wind up their current phase today, the banking committee has been paying particular attention to the possibility of fraud prosecution of any builders who may have filed false information with the FHA, as to estimated costs and other factors in their applications for FHA mortgage insurance.

Acting FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason said yesterday one such case, involving a 22-million-dollar project just across the Potomac River from Washington, was sent to the Justice Department Wednesday for possible fraud prosecution. That project, known as Arlington Towers, still is under construction.

Walter P. McFarland, one of the sponsors of the 1,647-unit project, denied that the FHA was not kept completely filled in on the group's financial position. He said the builders acted with "scrupulous honesty" and told newsmen the committee was hunting headlines.

McFarland said that as soon as a completed Justice Department lawyer studied the case, it would be dismissed.

Dulles Believes Line Can Be Drawn Around Non-Commie Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today a protective line can be drawn by the free nations around the non-Communist states of Indochina even though under the Geneva peace settlement those states may not be able to join actively in an anti-Communist alliance.

Dulles indicated at a news conference that he does not think a lower vacuum necessarily will develop in the area made up of South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

He said the South, or French-protected region of Viet Nam, has plenty of arms and he thinks some military aid in the form of weapons supplied may be continued by the United States. Dulles would not specify how he thinks such U. S. aid would be possible.

Red Troops Hit Hard At French Garrison

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Vietminh troops struck heavily at a French Union garrison at Vietri before dawn today in an attack finally repulsed. They launched a score of harassing strikes against other defense posts yesterday despite the impending cease-fire.

Gen. Rene Cogny's French troops meanwhile pushed no offensive operations. Cogny announced Wednesday he planned to fight only defensive battles.

in November in this overwhelming Republican district. His closest brush in previous years was against Quentin Haden, young Ava attorney, whom he defeated by some 8,000 votes in 1948, but even Dewey will admit that he is in greater danger this year.

Not only does Cox have a strong personal appeal among Republican voters, but rumor says that he is to have heavy Democratic support in the primary. Scores of Democrats have come to the conclusion that the only way to dispose of Short is by crossing party lines to take part in the Republican primary.

The necessity of remaining in Washington while Congress is in session forced Short to make a delayed start, but since his return home a week or 10 days ago he has been setting a fast pace in getting around the district. He made his first public appearance at Marshfield, followed up the next night at a "watermelon" festival in a Springfield public park. Since then he has been constantly on the go, and in spite of the intense heat, has been drawing large crowds.

Cox opened his campaign earlier, starting with a novel barbecue at Ozark, county seat of his home county, on June 18. He had another big rally July 8 at Webb City—a "family night" at which he furnished free rides and half-pints of milk for the children.

Cox will wind up his campaign Saturday night, July 24, when he'll

House Turns To Foreign Aid Finances

Committee Slapped By Congressmen On Its First Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee, fresh from a shelling at the hands of GOP members, turned to a multi-billion-dollar foreign aid bill today in hopes of greater success.

On the committee docket was President Eisenhower's request for about 3½ billion dollars for overseas assistance this year, and advance word was the group might be able to finish up work on the measure tomorrow.

Members predicted their version would provide less than Eisenhower asked, but said the cuts wouldn't be such as to stir up White House opposition.

Presidential prodding was a notable factor yesterday when a coalition of Republicans and Democrats rebuffed the powerful purchasing committee by adding $109,146,519 to the committee's figures on a catchall appropriation bill.

Then, by voice vote, the congressmen sent to the Senate a measure appropriating $1,303,334,628 to finance miscellaneous federal programs not taken care of in the regular money bills.

This was $656,823,639 less than the President had requested, but $528,400,000 was a reduction in funds for military public works construction. Instead of providing all new cash for this work, the committee had approved the use of unobligated balances of money previously appropriated. The House concurred in that plan.

But it bowed over the committee's recommendations for deep cuts in new money for ship, airport and hospital construction.

The coalition added to the bill 22 millions for municipal airport construction, 71½ millions for ship construction, and $15,900,000 to help states and municipalities build new medical facilities under a recently approved hospital program.

The foreign aid funds bill is a follow-up to the authorization measure which already has won House approval and now awaits Senate action.

May Be First To Make Dive Lasting 24 Hours

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Diver Ed Fisher was well on his way today to becoming the first man to spend 24 hours underwater in a diving suit.

Fisher, of Miami, camped overnight on the ocean floor off Key Largo. He planned to come to the surface at 3 p.m. (EST).

He went 30 feet down to the floor of a coral canyon at that hour yesterday. A team of assistants took fresh tanks of air to him every hour.

He wore a rubber suit to contain body heat during the night. The unit has no hose leading to the surface. Fisher walked around, lay down and at times squatted as big fish eyed him curiously.

Two boats, the 55-foot Vagabond and the 38-foot Three Royals, anchored about 100 feet from the "camp" on the ocean bed. Helpers aboard the craft watched him during the night by use of battery lanterns just under the surface and on the ocean floor.

Fisher carried a hammock for sleeping, a hot water bottle filled with hot soup and a spear gun. Sharks and barracuda are plentiful in the area.

His purpose was to test a newly invented, self-contained diving suit.

Fisher had fish for breakfast today. His face mask covers the eyes and nose but leaves his mouth free. To eat he just removes an air tube long enough to take a bite of food.

Armistice Effective Tuesday

French Command Sets 7 a.m. Deadline For a Cease-Fire; All Action Slowed

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—The French high command announced tonight the Indochina cease-fire will go into effect in North Vietnam at 7 a.m. Tuesday, July 27 (6 p.m. CST Monday, July 26), and in other Vietnamese areas soon afterward.

The claims to have the support of 10 of the 17 GOP county chairmen—including that of Mrs. Mary Seabough, chairman of Short's home county, Stone, and a cousin of Short.

Chairman of Short's campaign committee is R. Jasper Smith, Springfield man who is retiring this year from his post as GOP state Senate floor leader.

"I'm getting my friends aroused and fighting, and it is a wonderful inspiration to see them go to it," the Goliath of Galena says. "They realize, as everyone should, that you've got to learn to be a congressman and the most valuable asset I can have is 22 years experience there."

The high command said all offensive action by French Union and Vietnamese army forces has been ordered halted throughout Indochina. They are to fight only defensive actions, and air operations have been reduced to bombardments in support of French troops the Vietnamese are still attacking.

The Vietminh struck heavily before dawn today at a French Union post in Vietri, 40 miles northwest of Hanoi, and harassed a square of other garrisons in the Red River Delta but a French briefing officer said all the defenses held.

Red guerrillas tore up and carted off 120 yards of rails on the Hanoi-Haiphong supply line eight miles east of Hanoi and blew a locomotive off the tracks 10 miles farther east with planted explosive charges.

There was rebel action, too, against the French-Vietnamese post of Cheo Reo on the plateau of Central Viet Nam. Gen. Paul Ely, the French commander in chief, warned the three Vietminh battalions on the offensive there that "I will unleash massive air support" unless their assaults are halted.

Vietnamese government buildings in Saigon flew flags at half staff to mourn the loss to the Communists of the northern half of the country after 7½ years of fighting and 2½ months of arguing at the Geneva conference.

US Commission Says Dr. John Is Held by Reds

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Communists declared tonight that Dr. Otto John, West Germany's security chief, had gone to East Berlin voluntarily.

The armed civilian soldiers, hurried into the city by truckloads, relieved Phenix City law enforcement officials of their weapons as well as their duties yesterday when qualified martial law was proclaimed.

The stormy community of shady night clubs and gambling dens across the Chattahoochee River from Columbus, Ga., and sprawling Ft. Benning erupted five weeks ago when incoming Atty. Gen. A. L. Patterson was slain in an alley below his law office.

Gov. Parsons said he was invoking martial law to "surpass the state of lawlessness, intimidation, tumult and fear which reigns" in Russell County. He added that Phenix City officers have either been "unable or unwilling" to control tangled affairs here.

City and county law officers as well as private citizens were ordered to turn in all firearms and other weapons to the military command headed by Adj. Gen. Walter J. Hanna.

Crowds of townspeople ringed the courthouse and police station during a Thursday afternoon's steady drizzle as word spread around that the old order was changing.

But as night came the once teeming streets were almost deserted. Before midnight, guardsmen hauled in five persons on charges of being drunk—a fair average when rowdy Phenix City was the playground of Ft. Benning, the world's largest infantry training center.

Twenty-seven firearms of various types were collected from the 25-man police force—eight of them from Police Chief Paul Daniel. He surrendered seven revolvers and a machine gun.

State authorities said more than 100 National Guardsmen and about 25 state patrolmen are enforcing the governor's edict, but they would not give the exact number.

Gov. Parsons said he hoped the action would hold down fear of reprisals by witnesses called before an emergency grand jury impelled Wednesday to investigate the Patterson slaying and other wrongdoings brought to light by the intensive search for the slayer.

Russell County's judicial setup has already been revised. Circuit Solicitor Arch Ferrell has been relieved of all official duties and Circuit Judge J. B. Hicks was replaced for the grand jury probe with Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones of Montgomery, president of the Alabama Bar Assn.

The governor promised to keep martial law in the strife-torn town indefinitely—if necessary, even for the rest of his administration, which ends next January.

Refuse Lavalina Clearance

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department refused today to give security clearance to Thomas W. Lavalina, staff aide to the Senate Investigations' subcommittee, or detail its reasons for declining to clear him.

Plans to remodel and revise the civic club emblem displays at the four major highway entrances to Sedalia were discussed.

Pharris Heads Sedalia Civic Club Council

L. A. Pharris, president of the Sedalia Kiwanis Club, was elected president of the Sedalia Civic Club Council at a meeting Friday noon at the Hotel Bothwell.

He succeeds Charles Wemot, who served as president of the council by virtue of being president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce the past year.

Dr. D. H. Robinson, president of the Sedalia Lions Club, was elected vice president of the council. Mrs. Everett White of the Business and Professional Women's Club, was elected secretary.

Mrs. White is a former president of the BPWC and succeeds Mrs. J. F. Schumacher, who is president of the BPWC and served as secretary last year.

Plans to remodel and revise the civic club emblem displays at the four major highway entrances to Sedalia were discussed.

Well-Rounded Fair Program Offers Enjoyment For All

Secretary Ewing and Publicity Director Ritzenthaler Explain State Fair's Big Entertainment Features For Jaycees

Ross Ewing, secretary of the Missouri State Fair, promised the Junior Chamber of Commerce members at their meeting Thursday night that this year's fair would have a well-rounded program that anyone who enters the gate will enjoy.

He and W. H. Ritzenthaler, publicity director for the fair, were the guest speakers at the Jaycee meeting at which awards were also presented to the winners in the Jaycee-sponsored city golf tournament on June 1.

Receiving the awards, presented by Tom Delph, program chairman, were Van Van Dyne, 4, first; Dick Sklar, 204 Driftwood Dr., third; and Tom Austin, 523 West Seventh, fourth. The second-place winner, Les Griffin, 1724 South Barrett, was out of town and will receive his award upon his return.

In commenting on the improved fair program, Ewing said that a great variety of tastes in entertainment must be satisfied. Some people come only for the carnivals, others only for the horse races. They often fail to realize that there are many other interesting features throughout the fairgrounds. The revised program has been arranged, he said, to encourage visitors to circulate more.

"This year," Ewing concluded, "we have set up a well-rounded program that we think will meet with the approval of all people who will attend the fair."

He then introduced Ritzenthaler who said that two new features have been added to the usual attractions that are kept year after year because of their high caliber.

The new features are "Dancing Water" and "Stars Over Ice." The first is an accompaniment to orchestral music by a water display that changes color and form to fit the mood. It contains the combination of 419 different kinds of water sprays powered by 91 two-horsepower motors. The idea was originated in Germany, Ritzenthaler said, and had its American debut only last year at Dallas. It was an instant success.

"Stars Over Ice" will be located near where the water carnival was set up last year and will be under a tent. Although smaller than the renowned "Ice Capades," it has had a remarkable reception on the West Coast, he said. It features costume numbers on ice skates, including Western, Hawaiian, winter and can-can sequences, plus comedy and ballet routines.

Ritzenthaler said Barnes-Carruthers would again present the grandstand show, and Fred Schell, in charge of the horse show, has arranged for many new classes, including Shetland ponies, parade horses, a roping contest and more amateur classes.

The publicity director also said that many of the admission prices have been given a wider range to permit more people to enjoy the big shows. There will also be an increased number of free shows, particularly at the south end of the grounds, to encourage crowd circulation. He added that Ft. Leonard Wood and the Sedalia Air Force Base are expected to have military displays at the fair.

In response to a question from the audience on why the fair did not feature a big name star, as did some other state fairs, Ritzenthaler explained that the fairs that did so were those that were able to afford it. He said that such fairs were located close to big cities and had the benefit of receipts from pari-mutuel enterprises within the states. The combination of much larger gate receipts and the pari-mutuel receipts permitted fancier expenses.

He added that the Missouri State Fair does not have these big receipts and must contain its expenses within the approximately $350,000 it receives from the state and the concessions. About $75,000 of that comes from the concessions.

Ritzenthaler closed with the statement that, although he had visited many different towns and cities in his career, he found Sedalia the most friendly and the most enjoyable for its size. He told the Jaycees that their job of selling Sedalia would be an easy one.

After the golf awards were made, a letter from the Kennett Junior Chamber of Commerce was read, announcing the summer all-state Jaycee meeting there, Aug. 13-15.

The members then voted to send a letter of thanks to the Chamber of Commerce and its committee on aviation and military affairs for their part in getting the Sedalia Air Force Base established as a permanent installation.

The meeting was conducted by Bob Hare, first vice-president, in the absence of Mike Bogutski, president, now on a vacation trip.

Rescue 11 of 17 At Sea

HONG KONG (AP)—A British Sky-master airliner, with 17 persons aboard and one of its four engines afire, ditched in the South China Sea near Communist-held Hainan Island today.

A U.S. Navy PBY flying boat quickly rescued eight survivors and recovered one body.

Airlane officials in Singapore said three other persons were picked up by a British Sunderland, but a government press officer said this report proved untrue. He said all Sunderlands which took part in the search have returned to base here.

Eyewitnesses said they saw three survivors picked up by a small boat—presumably a Communist craft.

Three of the six Americans who were aboard the Sky-master were among the eight rescued.

They were identified as Mrs. L. L. Parish and her daughter Valerie, of Iowa Park, Tex., and P. S. Thatcher of Stonington, Conn. Mrs. Parish suffered a broken back and the other two were treated for cuts and shock.

Five members of the Parish family were aboard the plane. Capt. Parish and two other children still are missing. Singapore airline officials listed their home town as Los Angeles, Calif.

Newsmen were not allowed to talk with the injured Americans, who sustained severe cuts and bruises. Members of the PBY crew were not permitted to describe the rescue.

Six of the 12 passengers were Americans—including five members of one family.

Singapore headquarters of Cathay Pacific Airlines, operators of the four-engine Sky-master, said "all survivors" had been rescued and the search had been called off.

Airlane Manager Geoffrey Skelton said he could not say whether additional persons had been saved or whether no more could be found.

In addition to the survivors picked up by the U. S. flying boat, Cathay said three were rescued by a British Sunderland. There were reports that three others were rescued by a small boat from Hainan.

Eyewitnesses aboard two commercial planes which saw the Sky-master crash land after one engine caught fire said scores of small boats and sampans put out quickly from Hainan and all aboard the plane probably were rescued unless some were trapped inside.

The plane went down within one minute, said British newsmen Russell Spurr, who was aboard an Air Vietnam plane which circled the scene for 45 minutes.

Spurr said he saw a small boat pick up three persons from a life raft. The three presumably are in Communist hands.

Cathay Pacific identified Americans aboard the Sky-master as Capt. and Mrs. L. L. Parish and their three children of Los Angeles, and P. S. Tracker, address unavailable.

Three British citizens on the plane were listed as Mrs. P. M. Thornburn, wife of a Hong Kong bank official; Mrs. H. M. Finlay, wife of the British consul at Medan, Sumatra, and Paul Yong Nam Yung, a student.

The Sky-master was en route from Singapore to Hong Kong via Bangkok when a port engine caught fire and the pilot ditched at 9 a.m.

Rains Fish In Kansas So Kentuckian Finds

LAWRENCE, Kas. (AP)—A visiting Kentuckian is wondering if it rains fish in Kansas.

Allen Watts of Roark, Ky., left his car parked in front of the home of his father-in-law, W. Jacob Nelson, last night. This morning, after intermittent rain during the early morning hours, he found a dead fish, about an inch and a half long on top of the automobile.

One theory was that the minnow had been dropped by a bird.

Crossroads Comment . . . by G.H.S.

Almost any juvenile or adult driver will admit that an automobile in careless hands is a weapon of death, but—

"I'm a good driver. I never had any accidents. I know how to handle a car. It's the other guy who's the crazy driver."

So just for repetition of a notorious subject that may ignite a spark of sense in the self-sure motorists of all ages, here's some might sensible suggestions by Bruce Blossard on the subject of motoring:

"Stop driving with one hand. The fellow who hurtles along at 60 or better with a finger curled around the wheel and his left hand holding up the car roof advertises himself as the most ignorant driver on the highway. It is doubtful if a vacuum cleaner would be safe in his hands."

"A lot of people who refused to learn this elemental lesson are memorialized today in the statistics of highway fatalities."

Governor Race Tops Texas Primaries

DALLAS, Tex. (P)—The Democratic campaign for governor, featuring incumbent, Allen Shivers and attorney Ralph Yarborough, today overshadowed all other contests in tomorrow's Texas primaries.

Shivers and Yarborough each predicted a victory without a run off last night. Democratic victory usually means election in Texas.

This year, both Democrats and Republicans are holding the nominating primaries. The Democrats have for generations, but it is the fourth primary in Texas history for the Republicans who have held primaries this year because they polled more than 200,000 votes for governor two years ago when Shivers ran on both tickets.

The governor, who led the drive that in 1952 saw Texas' Democratic party organization go over to Republican Dwight Eisenhower, is bidding for an unprecedented third term. Yarborough, defeated by 300,000 votes by Shivers in 1952, is making this third attempt for state office.

He ran unsuccessfully for state attorney general 15 years ago.

Shivers has been an office holder almost since his graduation from the University of Texas in 1930, as state senator, lieutenant governor, and governor. A conservative Democrat, he actively supported the GOP ticket two years ago, when Texas went Republican for the second time since reconstruction days.

The governor's race has been hot, bitter and biting. Both candidates have accused the other of support from George B. Parr, the South Texas political boss currently under indictment for assault to murder.

Shivers has accused Yarborough of out-of-state support from the CIO Political Action Committee, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the Americans for Democratic Action.

Yarborough says Shivers is the candidate of the big gas companies, has accused him of favoring the ban on segregation in public schools and has pointed at a land deal in which Shivers made a $425,000 profit.

Yarborough has ridden hard on the third-term issue and Shivers' support of Eisenhower in 1952. Shivers says he did what was best for Texas in supporting Eisenhower because the Democratic presidential nominee, Adlai Stevenson, favored federal ownership of Texas' tidelands.

For the Republicans, Tod R. Adams of Crockett seeks the governor's nomination and Carlos Watson, old-time Taft Republican from Brownsville seeks the U. S. senatorial nomination. Both are opposed in their party.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson is opposed by State Rep. Dudley T. Dougherty, a wealthy 30-year-old rancher-oilman who has made a sporadic campaign. Johnson has stayed in Washington for the most part. His friends say the senator will be re-nominated easily.

Also facing contests for re-nomination are seven of Texas' 22 members of Congress. They include Rep. Sam Rayburn, who seeks his 22nd term. Rayburn is opposed by a political unknown, A. G. McRae of Bonham, also the former speaker's home town.

About 1,000,000 votes are expected to be cast in tomorrow's primaries.

It was coasting at high speed when it hit another auto, turned it over and killed a Collie dog. It finally crashed into a house.

Jack escaped with a cut lip and three loose teeth.

No. 3 In Korean Series--

Koreans Buckle Down to Build Back From Amid War Rubble

Editors' Note—President Syngman Rhee of Korea is arriving in Washington Monday to talk over his problems with President Eisenhower. In two articles earlier this week, The Associated Press has depicted the American aid program for Korea and the criticism it has run into. In this concluding article, an AP correspondent at Seoul depicts the Korea of today.

By MURRAY FROMSON

SEOUL (P)—The grim reminders of war are still here—bomb gutted streets, ruined buildings and the maimed and orphaned, but there's a new atmosphere in Seoul. And all over South Korea.

Reconstruction may not be going as fast as the government wants it to, but a government's discontent is not always shown by the people. With some assurance that they won't have to pack up and flee south tomorrow, the Koreans have buckled down to rebuild their homes and shops.

In contrast to last July 27, when the fighting stopped, the man in the street appears happier, better fed and better clothed today. Certainly, he's better off than any time since the Communists pushed across the 38th Parallel four years ago.

There are almost no big factories to indicate rapid recovery, though a number are in the works. But there are rows upon rows of small stands from which Korean merchants peddle their wares to the city shopper.

And there are plenty of shoppers. Seoul is bulging with people. Ever since the 8th Army relaxed its restriction on the return of civilians to Seoul, the people have been streaming back by the thousands.

Police estimate Seoul's population now to be about 1,600,000—some 400 thousand more than its prewar population—and going up everyday.

Men and women have taken to wearing Western clothes. The attraction for Western clothes by the women caused one U. S. soldier sought American support for a buildup of his own army. The U. S. contribution toward maintenance of the present 20-division force is estimated at about 300 million dollars annually. Rhee has asked for nearly 20 additional divisions.

But Gen. James A. Van Fleet said recently he did not think the ROKs could maintain more than their present 20 divisions in combat conditions. The manpower is available, however.

The key question is this: Is South Korea destined to be a permanent economic ward of the United States? There is no ready answer today, but C. Tyler Wood, head of the Foreign Operations Administration here, says a steady growth in the value of Korea's gross national production will end the need for extensive aid.

Beria's Pal Put to Death By Russians

MOSCOW (P)—M. D. Ryumin, henchman of executed Soviet police boss L. P. Beria, has himself met death before a firing squad nearly 15 months after he was tagged with the blame for the "doctor's plot."

His execution was announced today by Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper. Pravda said the Military Collegium of the Soviet Supreme Court tried Ryumin in July 27 and ordered him shot on charges of forcing the doctors to "slander themselves and other people." It also accused him of treason.

(There was no explanation why the courts took so long to deal with Ryumin, who was arrested in April, 1953, as the scapegoat in the bizaare case.)

The Internal Security Ministry first announced details of the doctor's plot in January, 1953. It accused nine physicians, several of them Jews, of plotting to kill Soviet leaders and charged they already had done away with Politburo member Andrei Zhdanov with reverse therapy.

Three months later the ministry, which had since been taken over by Beria, announced that the nine doctors and six others had been freed and that Ryumin had been arrested. Beria was jailed himself in June, 1953, on treason charges and his execution was announced last December.

Pravda said the death sentence was imposed on Ryumin because the court "took into consideration the special dangers of criminal activity . . . and the heaviness of the consequences of the crime perpetrated by him."

Strike Idles Auto Output For Fifth Day

DETROIT (P)—All of Chrysler's Detroit automobile production was at a standstill today in the fifth day of a strike now idling 44,850 workers.

Assembly lines went down completely yesterday with the layoff of 8,850 machinists, motor builders and maintenance employees in mounting idleness from Monday's strike of 10,700 Dodge main plant employees.

Only an approximate 21,000 hourly employees, including defense workers, were still on the job.

All the affected employees are members of the CIO United Auto Workers. The Dodge main strikers walked out in protest of what they called a speed-up. Management denied there was a speed-up.

The only assembly plants left in operation were those in Evansville, Ind., and Los Angeles. These two turn out about 20 per cent of Chrysler's normal production of Chrysler, Dodge, DeSoto and Plymouth cars.

The Dodge main strike lacks the approval of the UAW international union. At the same time the international has taken no action on

Mayor Tucker Says Symphony Orchestra Faces Money Crisis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mayor Raymond R. Tucker says the St. Louis symphony orchestra, facing its "most serious financial crisis," will not be able to complete the coming season unless more funds are received.

Tucker, after a meeting yesterday with members of the symphony society's executive committee, said funds raised will carry the orchestra to next February, only two-thirds through the season. Then, he said, the orchestra will have to disband.

Mayor Tucker said $134,252 had been raised exclusive of ticket sales against a minimum budget of $140,000 for the season. Next season will be the orchestra's 75th here.

"It is unthinkable," Mayor Tucker said, "that a great city like St. Louis should be in danger of losing one of its most renowned cultural institutions because of financial reasons."

Connecticut State prison, built for 600 prisoners, now has nearly 1,000 prisoners in it.

So Howard Goldenberg of the Highland Pharmacy decided to make a preliminary investigation before delivering the liquor. He left his billfold in the store, picked up a .38 pistol and drove to the address given by the caller.

As he got out of the car, two men met him, relieved him of his keys, cigaret lighter, watch—and the pistol.

Disputed Farm Bill May Get Last Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political explosive farm bill, pushed back on the Senate docket again under disputed circumstances, may be the final major business for the adjournment-bound Congress.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today he has no intention of trying to get Senate action on the farm measure until "next midweek, probably Wednesday," Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, added in an interview.

"All I want to make certain is that if there is no farm legislation at this session that I'm not going to take the rap for it."

Aiken smiled away a blistering statement issued last night by Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas which branded as "simply . . . not true" Aiken's assertion that Democrats forced a delay in Senate action on the farm bill.

Aiken called reporters to his office early yesterday and told them the Democratic leadership had served notice on him not to bring up the farm bill until next Tuesday or later.

Aiken said this might prevent any farm legislation because of plans to end the session next Saturday. Whether Congress will meet that target for adjournment is questionable.

Late in the day, Johnson fired back with a statement that Aiken had engaged in "distortions and inaccuracies." Referring to the all-night session the night before, Johnson said it was "a kind of misunderstanding that arises when senators are too tired and weary to think clearly."

If prospects for a farm bill are "dimming," as Aiken said, Johnson said this resulted from "the artificially imposed deadline of July 31st for congressional adjournment . . . imposed by the Republican leadership itself."

Johnson added that the "Democrats are ready to consider farm legislation at any reasonable time."

Johnson said "it is no secret" that Secretary of Agriculture Benson "would be perfectly happy" if a flexible price support program, enacted in 1948-49 but never put into operation, became law through inaction of Congress this session. It will take effect if no new law is enacted.

Aiken's committee, by an 8-7 vote, rejected President Eisenhower's proposal for a flexible price support program and instead urged a one-year extension of rigid supports on five basic crops that have operated since World War II.

Aiken is seeking to overturn this decision by his committee and enact a flexible price system similar to one already voted by the House.

FBI Agent Sends $1 For Overtime Parking

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Gov. Edwin Mechem, former FBI agent, lies up to the letter of the law. He got a ticket for overparking. He sent a note from his Santa Fe office with a $1 bill attached to the ticket. The note said: "The attached was attached to my car for overstaying my leave. If the enclosed is not sufficient to pay the charge, please advise me, or if you want me to appear in person I will do so."

The judge said Mechem won't have to appear.

Woman Wants to Know How to Shoot Burglar

OMAHA (AP)—Police Lt. Dominic Hannigan told this one: A lady telephoned him and said she wanted to settle an argument with a friend. Her question was: "If you come home and find a burglar in your house, can you shoot him in the back or do you have to wait until he turns around? My friend says shooting a burglar in the back is against the law." The lieutenant's answer was "hold your fire and call the police."

New Satellite Set-up Points To Khrushchev As Red Boss

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Foreign News Analyst

Communist parties and governments of the European satellite countries have just finished whipping themselves into the pattern dictated by Moscow. The result throws new light on Kremlin leadership itself.

The pattern adopted by the satellites, always obedient to Moscow, hints that there has been a quiet showdown inside the Kremlin. There is new evidence that Nikita S. Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, wields the real power, not Premier Georgi Malenkov.

Moscow laid down the new pattern last September, when the Soviet regime appeared to have regained its balance after the violent purge of Secret Police Chief Lavrenty Beria and his followers. Then Khrushchev became "first secretary" of the Soviet party, a job which, according to the Soviet press, Malenkov voluntarily relinquished.

The party chairmanship is a job of great power. Stalin used it to make himself dictator. Until World War II, Stalin preferred to separate the jobs of general secretary and Premier. The premiership before the war was held by V. M. Molotov, certainly no rival of Stalin for dictatorship.

Soon after the Soviet change last September, Czechoslovakia's Communists adopted the same pattern. Antonin Novotny gave up his gov-

Hal Boyle's Column-- Mate-seeking Man Should Trek To New York for This Weekend

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If I were a bachelor yearning for the matrimonial yoke, I do believe I'd head for Manhattan this weekend.

Some 2,000 business secretaries are here for their annual convention, and I don't know where else in America at the moment a man could go if he is searching for the right girl to love, honor and disobey the rest of his life.

For the business office today is the best of all training grounds for wifehood. Any girl who can run an office efficiently can operate a home at half-throttle.

As I see it, a good secretary has about all the advantages even the most cautious bachelor looks for in a wife, to wit:

1. She can sew on a button.
2. She has learned to keep her trap closed about confidential matters.
3. She knows when to get a man a cup of coffee, and when he prefers aspirin.
4. If she isn't a beauty, she at least knows how to put her best foot forward. She is neat, orderly and well-dressed.
5. She knows how to arrange flowers.
6. She has learned to take dictation from a boss, and therefore a husband can at least hope she will pay some attention to what he says—only through force of habit.
7. She has the ability to budget money and get the most out of a small income.
8. She can fill out your income tax and write diplomatic letters of refusal to all the relatives who try to borrow money from you.
9. Any girl who can change a typewriter ribbon successfully probably can learn in a few months to fix your television set, too. The repair bills she saves will in time pay for the cost of the wedding and her subsequent upkeep.

Every year the American girl secretary is getting brainer, better looking and more of a matrimonial bargain. Jerry Wald, space consultant for the Art Metal Construction Co., office equipment manufacturers, is my authority here. His job is to measure offices for secretaries (and secretaries for offices), and after a national survey of the field he came up with this observation:

"The average secretary today can accomplish more work in two hours than one in the Gibson girl generation could in an entire day. Physically, she is smaller in size, and in the office occupies one third the amount of space given her sister of 20 years ago. A thrifty bachelor can see the obvious advantages here: If he marries one of the new pony-model secretaries she will eat less food and fit in a smaller apartment than say a buxom lady weightlifter or the center on an all-girl basketball team.

And, of course, if he wants to keep his bride on the job while he himself stays home and pursues his hobbies, he won't overlook the fact that secretaries have pretty good take-home pay, although of course they don't get what they deserve.

"Executive secretaries have an average salary ranging from $50 a week in Alabama," says Wald, "to $82 in Tulsa. They average $75 in Los Angeles and $72 in New York."

All of which boils down to the following sensible tip to any sensible bachelor:

"Don't let your boss marry his secretary. She's too good for him. Beat him to the punch. Marry her yourself."

As a matter of fact, if the boss has a particularly efficient girl Friday and hates the thought of losing her, you can even use a little polite blackmail on him by saying:

"Look, boss, either you give me a raise in pay—or I'll marry your secretary."

Either way you win.

Vietnamese Flag Flown At Half Mast

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—The Vietnamese flag drooped at half staff today on Saigon's government buildings. The gesture mourned the northern half of the country—lost to the Communists in eight years of fighting and 2½ months of arguing at the Geneva conference.

Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem ordered the official flag halfway down, backing up his denunciation yesterday of the partition ordered by the Geneva cease-fire.

Sources close to the militantly Nationalist Premier said he would not resign his post despite his anger at the armistice terms which his representatives at Geneva said were concluded without their consent.

Diem, these sources said, considers it his duty to lead Viet Nam in the difficult days ahead. Under the cease-fire terms, both North and South Viet Nam are slated for internationally supervised elections in two years to reunite them. So far there is little expectation that the forces opposed to Communist leader Ho Chi Minh will win. The Viet Nam government's immediate problem was to arrange for evacuation southward of thousands of anti-Reds in the North desirous of escaping from the incoming Vietnamese.

But Associated Press Correspondent Forrest Edwards reported from Hanoi that various Vietnamese professional men he interviewed there said they intended to remain in the north and that they know of "many others who also expect to stay if we are given any kind of assurance we and our families will not be harmed."

Japan's milk production in 1953 was 182,208,000 gallons, 21.9 per cent above the previous year.

France May Lose Much More In Asia

PARIS, July (AP)—North Indochina is not all France stands to lose in Asia.

Also slipping are the first footholds of the once-great French empire on that continent—the little trading stations France has held on the Indian coast for more than 200 years.

First conquered by the French in the 17th century, they were expanded into broad inland holdings. Then they were lost to the British, retaken, lost and restored once more as tiny enclaves in British India.

For nearly a century and a half the sleepy, primitive towns of French India remained French by sufferance of the British Empire. Their main industry reputedly was smuggling.

Now only two of the five original colonies, Pondicherry and Karikal, are still under French control. They cover about 165 square miles, with a total population of no more than 300,000 amidst the hundreds of millions of the great Indian subcontinent. Both are on the east coast of India's Madras Province.

In the past five weeks, the French have moved out of Mahe and Yanam, two smaller posts, under pressure from enthusiastic Indian Nationalists. Chandernagor, a suburb of Calcutta, was taken over by India in 1950 after a referendum.

Similar votes in the other areas have been delayed. The French maintain under their Constitution a local vote must precede the cession of any territory. The Indians are reluctant to have the vote.

The French believe the Indians fear such a vote might be thought a precedent for holding a referendum in Kashmir, where the Moslem majority might be against the present Indian control and in favor of joining Pakistan.

Tries to Clear Army Officer Of Dereliction

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP)—The defense went ahead today in its effort to clear 1st Lt. Robert S. Morgan of a charge that he permitted his company of Army trainees to be held at attention for an hour in winter heat.

Nine prosecution witnesses took the stand yesterday at the opening of Morgan's court-martial trial on charges of "dereliction of duty."

One of them was Pvt. William Brooks, 20, of Hempstead, N.Y., who told the eight-member court-martial board he fainted three times during the forced attention period June 21.

Morgan, 28, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., is accused of having allowed Company "L," 272nd Infantry Regiment, to be forced to stand at attention in 92-degree heat as punishment for a breach of discipline. Several men were said to have fainted.

As the court-martial got under way, Morgan pleaded innocent to the charge. His administrative assistant, 1st Sgt. Richard J. Witbeck, 24, of Wellington, O., will be tried separately on a charge of mistreating the men in the incident.

Brooks testified that he was revived by splashes of cold water each time after he lost consciousness. He said that when he fainted the third time, he finally was carried to his barracks.

When the prosecution concluded its case, the defense took over by reading a deposition from a former member of the company who has since been discharged.

The deposition, from ex-Pvt. Bayard Stockton of Colorado Springs, Colo., said he did not notice any men fainting during the hour-long formation, but that he did recall seeing one man lying on the ground.

Stockton declared that the men were discouraged over the fact they received no passes after four weeks of training, but that they were not bitter against Lt. Morgan.

If found guilty, Morgan faces a possible sentence ranging from an official reprimand to forfeiture of two-thirds of his base pay for six months.

Buys Marriage License With Part of 1,500 Pennies He Had Saved

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP)—For four years Joseph S. Santi saved his pennies.

"This," he told Lydia Mae Lawson, holding a cloth bag crammed with coins, "will pay for our marriage license and the judge's fee."

The couple yesterday handed the 1,500 pennies to Superior Court Judge Frank Thomas.

He kept 200 for the license, married Joseph and Lydia and handed back the rest as a wedding present.

K. C. Power Firm, Clerks Agree On New Contract

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A one-day strike of 600 clerical workers against the Kansas City Power & Light Co. ended last night with agreement on a new 2-year contract.

The workers will get an hourly wage increase of 8.35 cents, retroactive to July 1, bringing their average pay to $1.91 an hour.

The settlement came as Gov. Phil M. Donnelly in Jefferson City was ready to invoke the state's utility anti-strike law.

The clerical workers are members of Local 1613 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL). Their picket lines were respected by production and maintenance workers who are members of other locals of the Brotherhood.

Supervisory personnel kept the power plants operating and there was no break in service yesterday.

Neighbor Wins Battle Over Big Window Fan

CHICAGO (AP)—There are two sides to a fan, and Mrs. Stella Wojciechowski, 51, says she lives on the wrong side of one.

Mrs. Wojciechowski complained in Police Court yesterday that an air conditioning fan in her next-door-neighbor's window blows hot air into her bedroom "so I'm warmer while he's cooler."

Judge Mason S. Sullivan issued a warrant charging the neighbor, M. A. Kupsik, with disorderly conduct.

Calvary Episcopal Church Is Being Fully Remodeled

New Arrangement Will Come With Plan; New Organ Ordered

A remodeling program, necessitated because of weakened roof supports, has begun at Calvary Episcopal Church, Broadway and Ohio.

The main changes include: the erecting of four steel supporting columns inside the church; the installation of a new pipe organ; rearrangement of the interior arches of the church; enlarging of the sanctuary; rearranged pews in order to coincide with the changes brought on by the columns; tearing out a false wall on the west side of the church to provide choir space; and the digging of a tunnel from the church proper to the parish hall, thus having a joining link between the back of the church and the hall.

The present supports on the roof are the original ones, being there since the building of the church 60 years ago. Last year the strength of the wooden supports on the roof was found to be so weakened that the church was abandoned, until some steps for strengthening could be taken. Services have been held in the parish hall since this time. There will be four large columns erected in the church, with four smaller ones placed beside them for the supporting structure.

With these posts in place, there will be a need for a change in the interior design to some extent, in order to round out the architectural pattern. This will be accomplished by the placing of seats so they all face directly to the front and the reworking of overhead arches to match the posts.

A completely new pipe organ, with 19 ranks and over 1000 pipes, is on order with the Reuter Organ Company, and should be delivered in the latter part of the year.

The pipes and machinery of the organ will be placed in the balcony of the church, and the console will rest in the front part of the church, from where the old organ was removed.

A false wall on the western front side of the church has been torn out, and this will be where the choir will be located, having other seats available directly opposite it, the choir expands.

The sanctuary will be lengthened also, making more room for communicants. Instead of the original curved railing, a rail reaching straight across, from wall to wall, will be constructed, and there will be more room allowed within the sanctuary proper.

Finally, there is a tunnel being dug from the narthex of the church to the parish hall. This has been a long improvement for many years, due to the fact that the old mean the choir had of getting from the parish house to the church for the morning processional was to come around from the outside. In bad weather, this presented quite a problem.

The Patterson Brothers Construction Company is doing the work, and it is expected to be completed except for the new organ, by Sept. 15.

GROWING SPIRITUALLY

By
E. STANLEY JONES

THE NOBODIES BECOME THE SOMEBODIES

We continue our emphasis on Christ the Stimulator.

He not only uses our great powers; He stimulates our little ones and puts them to great uses. The light in a lighthouse is feeble in itself, but it's the lens that magnifies it and makes it go far out to sea to guide confused mariners. Jesus is that lens that magnifies our otherwise feeble rays and makes them into a life-giving and life-saving agency. Jesus said to people who crowded about Him with feeble torches: "You are the light of the world." It was absurd. But that absurdity became accomplishment. They did become the light of the world. And we are still guiding our lives by the light they lifted up.

He said: "You are the salt of the earth" and He said that to tasteless, insipid human beings. But they did put taste and meaning into life for the multitudes whose lives had turned drab and full of boredom.

The Man who never used the word "hope" has put Hope into the lives of millions of hopeless beings. The Man who "descended into hell" has lifted more people out of the hell of meaningless and disrupted living than all the philosophers and moralists combined.

I love Jesus because, for one thing, He shed a shaft of light upon the disinherited peoples of the earth. "You come and walk through the compound of my humble cottage, and it will be purified of all its impurities and inferiorities," said a sweeper, the lowest of the low, to me after he had become a Christian by baptism. I knew his faith was misplaced; I couldn't do that. But I knew Jesus could do that and did just that. He walks through our minds and spirits and homes, and lo, life is purified of its impurities and inferiorities. Legend says that where Jesus walked, flowers sprang up in His footprints. That is legend, but the moral and spiritual equivalent of that does happen. Barrenness breaks into bloom; dead sticks, like Aaron's rod, begin to bud. The nobodies become the somebodies; the ordinary become the extraordinary. Life begins to live. Dead hearts feel the sweep of a Hand and sleeping mind is awakened.

O Christ, Thou art the same who said to sleeping Lazarus, "Come forth," and today at Thy voice we do come forth. Amen.

Affirmation for the day: I am the subject of an eternal Stimulus. Let it stimulate now and forever.

Bryan Will Shoot Missionary Film In Wilds of Africa

David Bryan, pastor of the local First Christian Church, has announced that he has recently agreed to shoot a movie for the United Christian Missionary Society of Indianapolis. The interesting part of the agreement is that the movie will be made in the jungles of the Belgian Congo in equatorial Africa. He will spend nearly all the month of September there working on his assignment.

Bryan was invited to the Indianapolis headquarters of the Missionary Society a few weeks ago where he had several conferences with leaders there concerning the type of work they wanted him to do. The movie will be designed to show the outreach and the effectiveness of Christian missionary work among the Congo leso of equatorial Africa.

In order to get background material for his movie, Bryan will be traveling back into the jungles to the most primitive parts of present day Africa. The U. C. M. S. wants Mr. Bryan to shoot a movie portraying the development of the African from the most primitive levels of culture through the various steps by which they often come to be educated, cultured Christian leaders under the guidance and influence of Christian mission work.

Bryan has also announced that he will visit mission work of his church in South Africa around Johannesburg. He will be taking black and white and color still pictures throughout his travels and these will be used by the missionary society for educational and publicity purposes. The First Christian Church will get its pastor back in time for World Wide Communion Sunday services on Oct. 3.

Sunday School Lesson Notes

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The chief fruitfulness that marks the Christian as a disciple of Christ, and in glorifying God (John 15:8), is following the example of the early disciples in bringing others to the knowledge of Christ and to the experience of life in Him.

The commission of Jesus to those early disciples was to go and "make disciples of all nations" (Matthew 28:19—Standard Revised Version).

But in addition to that main aspect of the fruitfulness by which God is glorified, the Bible has a great deal to say about fruitfulness in character and living. Nor is it all found in the New Testament, or is it Christian in that particular sense.

As in so much else, the source and foundation of so much in the New Testament is in the Old.

In the very beginning, the fruitfulness and abundance that so often have been perverted to materialistic and evil ends, were represented as attributes of God's goodness and plans for man. "Be fruitful and multiply" (Genesis 1:22).

But periods of great prosperity have often been periods of forgetfulness of God, and lack of love for man. The strong have overridden and oppressed the weak.

The lusts of the flesh have dominated over the life of the spirit, and pride, arrogance, and megalomania have obscured any trace of humility.

It was a period of such outward prosperity that Hosea cried the perversion of Israel's prosperity into increase of idolatrous altars, and the bringing of fruit unto itself.

There is one passage in which the rendering of Hosea 10:1 is important, in the recently published Standard Revised Version, in comparison with that in the King James Bible.

The vine is "empty" in the sense of Israel's lack of fruitfulness toward God, but the vine actually is "luxurious" (S. T. R.). The point is that in its flourishing prosperity Israel had only departed the farther from God as its outward prosperity had increased.

One thinks in the same terms of the rich farmer of whom Jesus told (Luke 12:16-21), with his barn bursting with prosperity, who left out of account the most important thing; and of whom Jesus said "so is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God."

Fruitfulness toward God is not only in actions. It is in the heart, the thoughts, the character, from which all action springs.

St. Paul admonishes the Christians at Colossae (Colossians 1:10) to be "fruitful in every good work," but he emphasizes fruitfulness in Christian character which he describes "the fruit of the Spirit," which is "love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance" (Galatians 5:22, 23).

Those who have tended to see some conflict between Peter and Paul might well set beside that statement of Paul what Peter says in II Peter 1:5-8:

"Add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness."

And here again is the matter of fruitfulness, which Peter says is the inevitable result. Paul and Peter had learned alike from the same Master.

Merry-Go-Round
Governor Shivers Faces Hard
Texas Contest This Week

By Drew Pearson
WASHINGTON—A year and six months ago the most dashing, debonair governor to come to Washington for the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower was Allan Shivers of Texas. Shivers, a Democrat, had helped induce the vast domain of Texas to go Republican for only the second time in history, so he was entitled to a seat of honor as his candidate took the oath of office.
Tomorrow, in contrast, Shivers faces the fight of his life to get re-nominated—which in Texas means re-elected—for the fourth term.
Several things have cropped up to plague the handsome, svelte young governor at whose palatial home, "Sharyland," Eisenhower was a special guest on his trip to Mexico last year. One was the natural aversion of Texans to elect a governor to run for four terms. Another was segregation. This backfired against Shivers in a peculiar way.
In the first place, his friend Ike backed up the Supreme Court after it abolished segregation in the schools. To offset this, Allan Shivers began making strong statements for segregation and against the Supreme Court decision.
But then it leaked out that the governor's eldest son had been attending one of the few nonsegregated schools in Texas. His children being brought up in the Catholic faith, his son, John Shary, has been attending St. Edward's Parochial School in Austin which has been non-segregated for over a year.
Quickie Land Deal
Another thing that hurt the governor was revelation that he had made a profit of $425,000 on a quickie land deal. Although reported by this newsmen in October, 1952, the big-city Texas newspapers conveniently ignored the court record of Hidalgo County until this spring when Shivers' opponent, Ralph Yarborough, forced attention on the amazing court record, which had lain, privileged and quotable, but gathering dust for nearly two years.
The record showed that Lloyd M. Bentsen, father of the Texas congressman by that name, had given Shivers, then lieutenant governor, an option on 13,000 acres of highly speculative land in the Rio Grand Valley for $25,000. Then, six months later, Bentsen had arranged for the repurchase of the option for $450,000.
Conveniently, Bentsen waited seven months before arranging to buy back the option, thus permitting the lieutenant governor to pay only a capital gains tax on his juicy $425,000 profit. What the lieutenant governor of Texas did in return for this $425,000 handed him on a silver platter was not revealed in the court depositions and has never been explained. But the Bentsens were then anxious to obtain precious water and irrigation rights in order to sell a big development scheme.
What the deal amounted to was a $425,000 windfall to a very important Texas official, and the voters of Texas, not easily fooled, don't seem to like it.
Insurance Scandals
Another sour development in the Texas political picture was the disclosure that Shivers' former campaign manager, John Van Cronkhite, had received $1,000 a month from a discredited insurance company which should have been put out of business by the Texas Insurance Commission, but which was temporarily kept in business thanks to Van Cronkhite's influence.
Significantly, Van Cronkhite was hired on the recommendation of Governor Shivers' executive secretary, Maurice Acers.
All these facts have now become known to Texans, thanks to a public lawsuit and official investigation. But what is not generally known is that R. W. Worth, an insurance official who knew about certain insurance companies from the inside, presented the facts to both Price Daniel, then attorney general, as early as July 20, 1952, and later to Governor Shivers himself on April 1, 1953.
Worth never got an answer, possibly because Shivers' former campaign manager was up to his neck in the insurance mess. Van Cronkhite, who had managed Shivers' 1950 campaign, was appointed by the governor as $8,400-a-year executive secretary of the Good Neighbor Commission, but found it more profitable to resign in 1951 and set up his own public relations firm.
It was this firm which handled public relations for "Democrats for Eisenhower" in 1952, again thanks to Shivers' influence.
And this was the firm to which Lloyd's of North American paid $1,000 a month, after an introduction by Shivers' executive secretary, when the insurance company wanted to prevent a crackdown by the Texas Insurance Commission.
What some of the Texas voters now remember is the governor's speeches during the 1952 election campaign, especially his statement on Oct. 29, 1952:
"Instead of the American eagle as our emblem, we have the fur-bearing mink, the deep freeze and the red herring."
Tidelands Oil Backfires
Final factor that has hurt Shivers is a ruling by the Justice Department that Texas does not get 10 1/2 miles of tidelands oil as she claimed and expected, but only three miles—the same as other coastal states.
Last week Sen. Price Daniel frantically scurried down to the White House on the pretense of making Ike an honorary "Son of the Republic of Texas," but actually to get him to say Texas was entitled to 10 1/2 miles. Ike obliged. But his Justice and Interior departments did not back him up. They stuck with Thomas Jefferson and the founding fathers who always refused to recognize the Spanish claim of a boundary extending 10 1/2 miles out to sea which Texas inherited and now says is valid.
Despite Texas claims, and despite Senator Daniel's call on Ike, the Interior Department announced that it would have to abide by the Justice Department ruling. The Interior statement was published alongside a speech made that night before by Governor Shivers saying that "nobody except Yarborough" says we don't own 10 1/2 miles. To have an official statement by his friends in the Eisenhower administration refute his speech the same day, didn't help Allan a bit.

One-Parent Children Need
Careful Emotional Guidance

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
The wisdom of Solomon would be required to answer a recently received letter.
The correspondent writes, "Please say how a mother can help her child to become or be as nearly normal as possible without two parents. I could use some good, solid advice—how I try."
It is no accident that nature has given all human beings two parents. All the evidence leads to the conclusion that, both physically and emotionally, youngsters do better on the average if they are raised under the eyes and with the cooperation of both father and mother.
The writer of the letter does not say whether the absence of the father is the result of death, separation or divorce.
From the youngster's standpoint, the problem appears easier to handle when death is the cause, rather than desertion or divorce. Probably this is because the child finds the situation easier to understand and does not feel the added insecurity of voluntary withdrawal of the father from lack of affection for his family.
From the physical standpoint, deficiencies in emotional adjustment usually increase the chances of developing stomach ulcers, intestinal disorders and a number of other troubles later on in life which are closely allied to the emotions.
Even during childhood there is an increased chance of developing emotional or even some physical disorders in those who are deprived of a normal home life.
But to come back to the question. If it is impossible—and of course it sometimes is—to give every youngster the devoted affection, interest and support of two congenial parents, one will have to carry on as best as he or she can.
The first step is to recognize that the youngster is missing something. No doubt the second is to do some hard thinking so that the remaining parent will avoid the pitfalls of over protection or spoiling of the youngster and still provide the affection and understanding which every growing child so badly needs.
Just how this is to be accomplished is still more difficult. Raising children with both parents working at it is hard enough anyway, and the burden which is so often complicated by economic problems is particularly severe when the father is not around.
Specific advice is impossible. But thought and care to the emotional, even more than the physical, needs of the youngster should be the keynote of all activities on the part of the mother.

Be Sure YOUR Children
Don't Pester Neighbors

By Ruth Millett
Several readers have written to say, "Please, please won't you tell mothers to look after their own children during the vacation months?"
Seems as though in many neighborhoods there are some mothers who turn their kids loose after breakfast and leave them on the neighborhood for the rest of the day.
It isn't surprising that the neighbors get a little tired of having these children descend on their homes and yards day after day.
One reader whose children are grown says, "Our place seems to be the target for the children whose mothers just turn them loose. They land on my yard with their wagons, bikes, guns, etc., and sometimes there are a dozen or more children racing through my yard, screaming and yelling, breaking down shrubs, trampling flowers, etc."
"My husband and I like children. But we would also like a little peace and quiet—and we don't get it—even on Sunday."
Your Pet Is Someone's Pest
Well, there it is, Mom. If the shoe fits, put it on. It fits, all right, if you have been kidding yourself that a child can be turned loose from morning to night to roam at will and not annoy any of your neighbors.
It fits, if you are the kind of mother who doesn't check up on where your children are and what they are doing as long as they aren't under foot at home.
Where is Junior right now? If you don't know, maybe you had better do a little checking up.
Could be he is out annoying the neighbors.

Golden Opportunity

There seem to be a good many lawmakers who would like to penalize India because its prime minister, Nehru, declines to take positions toward communism which closely match the American view. Nothing could be more shortsighted.
India's teeming millions are a rich breeding ground for communism. The country's intellectual leaders have put a sharp watch on neighboring Red China to observe how its radical communizing experiments work out.
We and our Western friends have a golden opportunity to win India permanently for democracy—and perhaps ultimately for the West—if we can demonstrate the superiority of our way of life over communism.
The way to do this is not to tell Indians what they must think but to show them how democracy and a free economy can work to their advantage.
That is the purpose of the Point Four program with its assistance to agriculture, to community development, to health and sanitation, and the like. That program deserves in Congress the support Foreign Operations Administrator Stassen is now asking for it.

Smarter NCOs

Twenty-five per cent of Gen. Maxwell Taylor's Eighth Army in Korea is going to school on duty time.
All this forced education is the result of a finding that over 10 per cent of the troops were technically illiterate.
By intensive training, however, 55,000 troops have now been lifted above this level. An additional 5,600 have been carried through the equivalent of the eighth grade.
The purpose of this latter higher education program is to make every noncommissioned officer a grammar school graduate, a smarter and better leader.

The World Today—
Senate Overdoes Speech Rule

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—The Senate, proud of its rule which lets a member talk till he's speechless, is working the rule overtime. It has been talking steadily, all day and all night, around the clock, since Wednesday morning on atomic energy. It probably will still be talking on this next week.
Sen. Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader, made up his mind he'd get action on the administration's bill to make some major changes in the atomic energy law if he had to keep the 96 senators, including himself, in steady session to the point of exhaustion.
His challenge was taken up by a number of Democrats and Sen. Morse, Oregon Independent, who don't like the changes and probably wanted to show him they couldn't be pushed. They've done most of the talking. And they've had plenty of excuses for talking.
The atomic energy act, passed in 1946, is the basic law on the development and control of atomic power for both military and peaceful uses. That act contains 21 sections. The bill now before the Senate would make changes in all 21 sections.
And while one senator might be willing to buy one change, but not another, and since the Democrats as a group don't like the bill as a whole, they're having a field day arguing against the bill, piece by piece.
Although Knowland is determined he'll keep the Senate in session until the bill is settled, one way or the other, and he hopes it will be settled in favor of the administration, he's up a bit of a tree. He had hoped the Senate could wind up its year's work by the end of July. In fact, he had planned on it.
His schedule is getting bootled out the window. And that isn't all. The House was to begin debate on the same bill on its side of the Capitol today. Since there is a limit on debate in the House, that chamber should make up its mind, for or against, pretty fast.
But if it passes the bill and the Senate doesn't, there won't be any

WE had been away a lot longer than we intended, and when we got back to the theater the show was over and everybody was gone except the man at the door and Milo. He sure looked dejected.
"Milo know only want to get him out way," he says. "No park half hour where is car. Is two hour."
I was nonplussed, and more on the plus side, but Dawn said, "Why, you dear old dope. Don't tell me you're jealous! Good-lookin' and me have been trying to get you out of this molasses deal. Honest"—and she used some term that must be of Greek, because it was sure Greek to me—"I wouldn't have got you into it if I'd known."
"Masses? New way rattle?" Milo asks, and we both realize that he is still strictly not wise to what he has been matched for, but Dawn uses it to his advantage.
"Didn't my old man used to tell me about how three-four fellows used to wrestle together in Greece, in the old days?" Milo's face brightened up, until he no longer looked suspiciously at me. "Milo see pictures store windows. Tebble Greek me. In English is chess royal. No worry. Milo thow other fellows. Is masses Milo no understand."
"It's to keep you from slipping," Dawn said, which was about a kind of white lie, as maybe it would, at that.
The arena was sort of small, so the dressing rooms were under the cheap seats at the back and they weren't very big, either.
As this was to be my first match in a regular ring, with the customers sitting on all four sides, instead of just out in front like at the theater, I was feeling a little nervous, which was why I started changing a little early.
In comes a man who was about the ugliest human being I have ever seen. He had a flat nose, and his ears had the biggest flowers on them I've ever seen. I didn't notice then that he also had a cross eye. All I saw was those two bumps that stood out like knobs on each side of his face. Right then I determined on my strategy, which was to work for head locks, as with ears like those, if you got a hold, nothing in the world could make it slip off.

HE said, "Hello. I guess you're Hackenschmidt. The name is Lopez." He had a soft, quiet voice, with no accent that I could tell. He wasn't very dark, either, so I wondered if he wasn't really Italian or Greek or something that was practically not foreign at all, and if this Mexican stuff was just a build-up.
"I thought you were supposed to be Mexican," I said.
"Sure. Born in Juarez. Ain't been there in years," he answered, starting to get undressed. His skin wasn't much browner than mine and I noticed that he didn't have any muscles that stood out, but was real smooth all over, which was what Milo had taught me to look out for because of that muscles-should-flow-like-river business he was always talking about. This Lopez had a way of walking that sort of flowed, too, while he took off his shirt and hung up his trousers. All the time he kept talking in this soft, easy voice of his.
"Then Benny Lefkoe is about as regular a promoter as I ever worked for. You can't do better than get on his card here every week, and I hope you do."
I said, "Thanks," and he went on. "I've built up quite a following here. It depends on me pretending to wrestle dirty, of course, but don't pay any attention to that. I'll play the fall clean." He was so soft-spoken that I didn't know just how to answer, so I just said, "Sure," which I figured was about as committal as I could be.

He slipped on a faded green bathrobe with a Mexican flag sewn on the back of it and watched me while I laced my shoes. "Fact is, think I'll bring the wife and family down here from Hartford soon as I can find a house."
It was hard to imagine a fellow who was so ugly-looking having a wife and much less children, but I didn't have much time to think about it as the two preliminaries came in, after having wrestled to a draw for about the hundredth time together, as I learned later. What they had was really a tumbling act, but it was fast and spectacular and gave the crowd a good show.
LOPEZ was called, and he slipped out with that easy way he had of walking. He grinned at me, real friendly, and waved his hand. In a moment I could hear a lot of boos and raspberries, after which the customers began to stamp on the floor of the stands overhead until I thought they'd all come down on top of us. They sure hated that Lopez.
A fellow tapped me and I followed out to the ring, climbed through the ropes, and went to my corner. Everybody cheered and hurraed except some guy with a voice that I could hear over all the rest, who keeps shouting, "You won't be so preli-ty when Lopez gets down with you." I saw Milo and Dawn sitting in the second row ringside and let them know by a faint smile, but I had made up my mind that a wrestler in the ring is no movie idol and should be have like one. What I wasn't prepared for was the change in the expression of my versus. If he was ugly before, he now looked repulsive. He stripped off his robe, made a bunch of it, and practically threw it out of the ring, while the crowd called him names too numerous to mention.

Two Games Slated; Air Force Night; Sedalia Maytags to Play

The 19th annual Missouri State Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament will get under way tonight at Liberty Park, shortly after the pre-game ceremonies, when the Sedalia Maytags and the Marshall Merchants take the field. Those teams will battle in the first game of a long grind toward the championship.

This will be Air Force Night with all Air Force personnel being the guests of the tournament management. Col. Franklin Reicher, commanding officer of the Sedalia Air Force Base, will catch Mayor Julian Bagby's first pitch, and the color guard from the SAFB will have charge of the flag raising.

The Maytags, managed by Bus Walker, are currently riding a five-game winning streak. They have defeated the Jefferson City Red-Birds, a tourney favorite, by scores of 2 to 1 and 5 to 0. After a late start, the Maytags are expected to make a good showing in the tournament. Joe Imhäuser will probably be on the mound tonight with Salty Shoemaker doing the receiving.

Marshall's Merchants come to Sedalia as the runner-up of the Marshall district tournament. They have won 12 and lost only five this season.

Following the Sedalia-Marshall game, the Sedalia Air Force team will clash with the Clinton Merchants in what should be a real thriller. This is the rubber game between the two teams, each of which has won one game in the two battles they have engaged in this year. No batteries have been announced for either team.

Due to the large entry list of 18 teams, games have been scheduled to start at noon both Saturday and Sunday.

The winner of the Missouri tournament has been chosen to open the national tournament at Wichita, Kan., Aug. 20 amid a field of winners from all 48 states. Ft. Leonard Wood of Missouri was the 1953 national champion, having gone through the national event undefeated.

Entered for the 1954 tourney here are, in addition to the teams playing Friday: Grandview Air Base, Holden Chiefs, Sugar Creek, Warsaw, Springfield Generals,

Stengel's Yanks After the Lead In 3-Team Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel sends his New York Yankees after the American League lead tonight in the first of three games with Cleveland, but he's still convinced it's a three-team race for the pennant.

The Indians own a half game edge over the Yankees and have played the world champions on an almost even basis so far this season, winning 5 of the 11 games. The Yankees never have been in the lead.

The Yankees deflated the pennant hopes of the Chicago White Sox at least temporarily yesterday by winning a doubleheader 4-3 in 10 innings and 11-1. This dumped the third place Sox 6½ games behind Cleveland.

But in discussing the way the Yankees and Indians have traded decisions Stengel outlined the road back for Chicago.

"If it keeps up like this," he said, "those fellows can come back by beating the other fellows (meaning the second division teams.)"

The veteran Yankee manager didn't have much to say about his immediate problems with the Indians except to pick Eddie Lopat as his starter for tonight.

Big Chief Allie Reynolds will be in the bull pen just as he was yesterday. He was not needed against Chicago and if he escapes work again tonight he'll be the starter tomorrow. If he works Stengel hopes it will be brief enough to bring him back as a starter Sunday. Whitey Ford will open whichever game Reynolds doesn't.

At Lopez, the Cleveland manager, picked rookie Don Mossi for the second game.

Yesterday's Games—Mantle Has Made Yanks Go Stronger

By BEN PHILGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

One of the prime reasons for the recent rise of the New York Yankees is the blossoming of Mickey Charles Mantle into a big time big leaguer.

The 22-year-old switch hitting center fielder apparently has arrived, although some fans who regard Yankee miracles as commonplace feel he took a long time coming.

Amid reams of ballyhoo the Yanks tried to jump Mantle from the Class C Western Association into Joe DiMaggio's job in 1951.

It didn't quite come off. Mantle had to go down to Kansas City for seasoning. He came back in 1952 for what would have been a sensational season for any normal rookie. He hit 23 home runs and finished with a .311 average.

But it wasn't enough for the fans who were still dreaming of DiMaggio. Mickey fell off to .295 last season and when he came up with an old knee injury during the winter the Yanks were really worried.

An operation put him out of commission through much of spring training and he wasn't ready when the season started. But he's really rolling now.

His average of .323 is second high on the club. He leads the league in home runs with 20 and tops the Yankees in runs scored, triples, hits, runs batted in, total bases and bases on balls. He also has struck out the most, not too unusual for a distance hitter. In the field he ranks with the best.

When the Yanks ran out of infielders in the first game of their double triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Mantle was the batting star in the first game of yesterday's double triumph by the Yanks over the Chicago White Sox. He drove in the tying run with a right-handed single in the eighth inning and the winning run with a left-handed home run into left field in the 10th. The score was 4-3. The Yanks coasted home in the second 11-1.

Cleveland also won twice, 6-3 and 5-2 over Boston, and kept its half game first place lead.

Brooklyn climbed a game closer to the New York Giants with an 8-5 victory over Cincinnati while the Giants bowed to Chicago 13-5. New York still holds a six game edge.

In other action Milwaukee edged Philadelphia 3-2 and St. Louis shaded Pittsburgh by the same score in 14 innings in the National League.

Detroit defeated Philadelphia 9-4 and Washington beat Baltimore 3-2 in the American League.

Two home runs by Vic Wertz helped Bobby Feller post his seventh straight triumph in the first game at Boston. Bob Lemon tamed the Red Sox in the second game.

Little League—Wertz Slaps Two Homers And Single

Wertz of Optimists slapped out two home runs in successive times at bat, then singled in his third trip to the plate and sprained his ankle trying to stretch it into a double.

He was the big gun at the plate for the Little League majors Thursday night as Optimists romped to a 7 to 1 victory over Democrat-Capital and Adco took an easy victory from Lions, 13 to 6.

Lions scored two runs in the top of the first to gain an early lead, but Adco put in five in its half of the first and the Lions never caught up. They pulled up to trail by only one run with two scores in the third, then saw Adco race ahead with six counts in the fourth.

Lions collected nine hits to only five for the winners. Daley and Anderson of Lions and Speller of Adco each had doubles.

While the two homers and a single by Wertz highlighted the Optimist attack on Dem-Cap Newsboys, he had help in gaining the 7 to 1 victory. Decker hurled a good game, allowing only four hits and striking out eight, giving only one walk.

PGA Course So Easy It Proves Hard

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The test of whether the bleak little Keller Public Course is capable of giving the top golf professionals a real challenge, or whether it's just a drive-and-pitch layout for Sunday swingers got under way today with the beginning of match play in the 36th PGA championship.

Keller had been ridiculed before the tournament as being too easy for such players, but as scores began to mount in yesterday's second qualifying round, one acute observer remarked:

"This course is so easy it's getting tough."

That's about what happened during the two days of qualifying and what's more likely to happen in the man-to-man contests. The pro sharpshooters, seeing possible birdies on almost every hole, tried too hard to get them.

The result was that Ed Oliver, the returning "Mr. Pork Chops" from Lemont, Ill., breezed off with the medal and $250 with a score of 66-70-136. That's two strokes higher than the PGA qualifying record made on reputedly tougher courses.

Jack Burke and Cary Middlecoff came in with 137 and it took a score of 147 to get into the 64-man match play bracket. That's some sharp scoring but hardly taking apart the tournament par of 36-35-71 for the level 6,652-yard course.

Mr. Fitz, as he is known around the race tracks won't have a birthday celebration until tomorrow when a "little" family get-together will mark the occasion. Besides the guest of honor there will be his five sons, one daughter, 17 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. His wife died three years ago.

A little fellow whose shoulders have become stooped through the years, Mr. Fitz hasn't slowed up a bit and still works 12 hours a day. He was the leading trainer at the recent Belmont and Aqueduct meetings.

Collegian All-Stars Meet Today

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Fifty of last year's college football heroes gathered at Purdue University today to begin preparations for their Aug. 13 assignment against the Detroit Lions in the annual all-star game at Chicago.

Jim Tatum, who guided Maryland to the 1953 mythical national championship and will head the all-star coaching staff, said actual workouts will begin tomorrow.

The players spent today taking physical examinations, checking out equipment and settling in living quarters near the enclosed field where all practice sessions will be held.

The Lions, National Football League champs, opened practice at Ypsilanti, Mich., today.

The collegians included such proved two-way backfield aces as Johnny Lattner and Neil Worden of Notre Dame, Paul Cameron of UCLA, Jerry Norton of Southern Methodist, Bobby Garrett of Stanford, Lamar McHan of Arkansas and Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia.

The squad may be upped to a total of 51 players. Ralph Starkey, West Virginia tackle, wired Tatum yesterday that he may be able to accept an invitation to play.

Assisting Tatum in getting the all-stars ready will be coaches Hamilton, 3b, and Beckner, 2b, of the Detroit Tigers.

Volts of Northwestern, Forest Evashevski of Iowa, Chuck Taylor of Stanford and Stu Holcomb of Purdue.

This year's all-star game will be played entirely under college rules, including limited substitutions—which will keep Lion Coach Buddy Parker from making customary utilization of his specialists and may prompt him to withhold some of them from the tilt altogether.

"I think we can win the game with their foolish rule," Parker commented yesterday. "But it would be silly to get all our players steamed up for it. Bobby Lattner, for instance, is going to play only when we have the ball and we'll probably scrap our T formation and use a single wing."

"We're trying to win our third straight title—and that's the important thing—and we can't risk injuries."

Sports Roundup—They Could Have Turned On Lights to See Stanky Fight

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—After one has gone into the strange affair at some length, he does not wonder that there was a certain amount of confusion just before darkness descended upon Busch Stadium in St. Louis last Sunday.

He wonders, rather, that there occurred no more than a small-scale riot between members of the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phils, that a game was forfeited to the Phils, and that Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cards wound up with no worse than a fine and suspension and making a public apology to the fans of his town. The possibilities were much greater than that.

To recall the circumstances, the Phils were leading 8-1 and were still at bat in the top of the fifth. Once they were out and the Cards had taken their turn, it would have been a legal game and, probably, a Philadelphia victory. The sun was down. Stanky—and apparently everybody else in the park—was under the impression that the lights could not be switched on to complete a game that had started after 6 o'clock.

So, as is common in such cases, Stanky stalled for time. He brought in fresh pitchers at the drop of a foul. Tempers flared and there were fistfights. Finally, with two Phils out, Umpire Babe Pinelli lost patience and forfeited the thing to the visitors.

National League President Warren Giles, in upholding the forfeiture and meting out punishment, observed that Stanky—and, presumably, everyone else—did not realize there was a new league rule which permits the turning on of lights to complete Sunday games in all cities except Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. The only stipulation is that no Sunday game may be started under lights—in other words, no scheduled night games on that day.

So, where does that leave us? It leaves us facing the fact that Stanky, not knowing of the rule passed at the last league meeting, committed acts which cost him a Sunday game that his club might possibly have won in the regulation nine innings under lights.

It also leaves us wondering why the umpires, if they were aware of the new rule, did not remind Stanky of it when he began stalling for time. Part of an umpire's duties is to head off trouble.

Driven by curiosity, we have sought to read a copy of the new regulation locally, but so far without success.

"I think we have a copy somewhere," said one magnate. "Any-way, there is no doubt that the rule was passed, because I was there."

He was told that, believe it or not, there was nothing in the previous year's regulations that said one way or the other whether the lights could be turned in St. Louis on Sunday. It said games at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh had to stop at 6:59 p.m., and that there could be no Sunday lights at Boston, which still was in the league when the copy was printed. But nothing at all about the other cities.

And so, we seem to arrive at the fact that, before this season, National League umpires did not permit Sunday lighting under any circumstances, though there was no official rule against it. And that now, when they are specifically instructed to finish Sunday games under the lights when necessary, they don't seem to know about it.

We also come to the conclusion that Stanky should try protesting the game again, just to see what happens.

Finds Actors Use Printable Words When They Muff Lines

By HUBBARD KEAVY (For BOB THOMAS)
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—They said I couldn't write this one—what search.

But I've been watching movies sheepishly and turned to the script in the making for a long time and girl, saying: "And then after that what the players say when they will what? My mind's a blank."

In the same scene, the impeccable Basil Rathbone muffed the line three times. Each time from beautiful throats. We won't mention those girls; can't shatter illusions.

The other day it was Humphrey Bogart. He was to say to another player, "and then after that we will..." He forgot. He grinned it again.

Most actors use the same ex-pressions over and over, and here are some of them:

Teresa Wright: "Oh, golly, I did it again."

Debbie Reynolds: "Wait till I file down my little pointed head."

Cornel Wilde, punching his jaw, exclaims: "Get with it, man!"

And when Jean Hersholt forgets, he goes completely out of character with: "Tennis, anybody?"

To hide her embarrassment, Barbara Hale usually says: "To Hale with that one."

And Zsa Zsa Gabor says, among other things: "Take back my diamonds—my everyday ones."

After blowing his lines six consecutive times in one scene, Richard Burton walked to a wall and smashed his head against it. But it was only a movie wall of unreinforced plaster and his head went through it. He apologized for his display of temper and the damage and then did his part perfectly.

Bob Hope never uses the same line twice, when he flubs, that is. Once in a love scene with Jane Russell the words wouldn't come out. His remark: "Only an idiot would remember his lines at a time like this."

Alan Ladd: "Hold everything. I lost my stirrups."

Guy Madison: "I can talk plain-er than that."

Clifton Webb: "You might know, says: 'To err is human.'"

Marilyn Monroe: "Calm, calm, calm, calm."

Robert Taylor: "Okay, let's try it again."

Debbie Reynolds: "Wait till I file down my little pointed head."

Cornel Wilde, punching his jaw, exclaims: "Get with it, man!"

And when Jean Hersholt forgets, he goes completely out of character with: "Tennis, anybody?"

To hide her embarrassment, Barbara Hale usually says: "To Hale with that one."

And Zsa Zsa Gabor says, among other things: "Take back my diamonds—my everyday ones."

After blowing his lines six consecutive times in one scene, Richard Burton walked to a wall and smashed his head against it. But it was only a movie wall of unreinforced plaster and his head went through it. He apologized for his display of temper and the damage and then did his part perfectly.

Bob Hope never uses the same line twice, when he flubs, that is. Once in a love scene with Jane Russell the words wouldn't come out. His remark: "Only an idiot would remember his lines at a time like this."

US Intends to Leave 'Humanitarian Type' Supplies In Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen says the United States is planning to leave "humanitarian type" equipment behind in the areas of northern Indochina turned over to Communist control in the peace agreement.

Stassen, foreign aid director, told a news conference yesterday that "we will not dismantle or destroy those things which will benefit the people who remain behind."

He said the equipment would include such things as hospitals, health clinics and water pumps. Stassen said he could not estimate their dollar value.

Senate Defeats Ike Plan

Public Plan On Atom Power Passes Despite Efforts Of Ike Men To Defeat The Plan

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Foes of the Eisenhower atomic energy bill won an upset victory at a marathon Senate session today as the chamber voted 45-41 to authorize the federal government to go into the commercial production of atomic power.

The vote came after critics had hammered away on the thesis that provisions of the Eisenhower bill for permitting private industry into the atomic power field amounted to a "gigantic giveaway," Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said the bill would "furnish wheelbarrows" to private companies to cart away vast national resources.

In vain, administration backers declared that the Atomic Energy Commission has no desire to get into the commercial power field. The Senate voted to authorize the AEC and some other federal agencies to build atomic plants capable of producing commercial quantities of power.

At 6 p.m. the Senate had been in continuous session for 32 hours, and after the "public power" vote the debate continued with no end in sight. The atomic bill as a whole had yet to be acted upon.

Earlier Majority Leader Knowland of California had taken tentative steps toward invoking the debate—limited filibuster.

The victory over the administration leadership on the power amendment resulted from a lineup of 38 Democrats, 1 Independent, More of Oregon, and 6 Republicans: Case and Mundt of South Dakota, Langer and Young of North Dakota, Dworshak of Iowa and Cooper of Kentucky.

On the losing side were 35 Republicans and 6 Democrats: Burke of Ohio, Ewing of Missouri, Francis of Delaware, Holland and Smithers of Florida, and Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) floor manager for the bill, told the Senate the administration doesn't want the AEC in the commercial power field, nor does the AEC itself want to get in it.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) sponsored the amendment authorizing AEC to get into the field. It provides for giving preference to cooperatives and publicly owned utilities in the sale of excess power from any atomic plants. This is now required in the case of hydroelectric facilities.

It also offers a similar sale preference to private utilities in case the AEC plant were in such areas as New England where publicly-owned facilities are non-existent. The latter language was suggested by Sen. Pastore (D-R.I.).

Sen. Morse called the vote on the amendment a "great victory" for those "fighting for the people's rights."

News Flashes

KC Power Strike Over

KANSAS CITY, July 22 (AP)—Settlement of a clerical workers strike against the Kansas City Power and Light Co. was announced tonight.

A company official said an hourly wage increase of 8.35 cents was granted in a 2-year contract retroactive to July 1.

Withdrawal of pickets was ordered as Gov. Phil M. Donnelly in Jefferson City was prepared to order state seizure of the utility under the state's utility anti-strike law.

Donnelly first set a 4 p. m. deadline for removal of the pickets, but extended the time as negotiations continued here.

Supervisory personnel kept the generators going and there was no interruption of power service during the brief walkout.

Members of Local 1613 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers AFL threw picket lines around the company's plants this morning. Production workers left their jobs shortly after noon as shifts changed.

A company spokesman said the new contract includes an agreement by management to study a modified hospitalization plan for retiring workers. The old contract expired June 30.

Russia Calls for Korea Conference

MOSCOW, Friday, July 23 (AP)—The Soviet government called officially today for a new international conference on reunification of Korea.

It said the successful results of the Geneva Indochina parley also opened the way for "a successful settlement" by negotiation of the reunification of Germany, disarmament and the ending of the atomic race.

Deficit Is $3,029,000,000—

Ike Announces That US Deficit Runs Below January Prediction

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower announced today, with considerable pride, that the federal government's deficit on June 30 was $3,429,000,000, or $245,000,000 less than had been expected in January.

In other comparisons, he listed the $6,411,000,000 in the red showing of a year earlier, and the $9,922,000,000 deficit President Truman had estimated in his final budget would be the deficit on June 30, 1951.

Eisenhower said in a statement at the White House that progress has been made toward a balanced budget while cutting taxes. He said:

"These fiscal achievements mean a great deal to the American people:

"1. We have made possible a program of tax cuts totalling 7½ billion dollars.

"2. We have halted inflation. The purchasing power of the dollar has varied only one-half of one cent in the past 18 months.

"3. Our people have new confidence. We are laying a firm base for a healthy and expanding economy for better national security, and for more jobs for more people."

Eisenhower's report indicated that the economic downturn which set in last summer reduced the government's income by some three billion dollars below the receipts he forecast last January.

But the administration meanwhile chopped spending, mainly national security outlays little more than enough to fit the shrinkage of its purse, by some three and a fourth billion dollars less than the January estimate.

Consequently, the government was able to wind up fiscal 1954 on June 30 with the less-than-expected deficit of $3,029,000,000.

This figure, for the first full fiscal year of the Eisenhower administration, was $6,420,000,000 less than the $9,449,000,000 by which the government overspent its income in the previous fiscal year.

Noting this, Eisenhower said in his statement that "we have come over two-thirds of the way toward balancing the budget."

Spending during the past 12 months, totalling $67,579,000,000, was $6,695,000,000 below the fiscal 1953 total, and was $10,348,000,000 less than spending outlined by Truman for fiscal 1954.

The government's receipts in fiscal 1954 came to $64,550,000,000, which was $275,000,000 less than the year before and $3,455,000,000 less than Truman forecast.

A joint statement from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Rowland Hughes said national security outlays last fiscal year ran $4,068,000,000 less than in the year before and were $2,511,000,000 less than previously programmed for fiscal 1954.

MFA Urges Ike To Put Drought Aid Into Effect

Association Sends Telegram Seeking Aid From Bad Conditions

COLUMBIA, July 22 (AP)—The Missouri Farmers' Association urged President Eisenhower today to put a broad federal drought relief program into effect at once to alleviate "the awful drought conditions in our state."

The MFA board of directors, in session here today, directed Fred V. Heinkel, their president, to present the MFA program in a telegram to the President.

Heinkel wired that in addition to an emergency beef purchase program already recommended by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, the federal government should start a cattle buying program at once to insure floor of at least $10 per hundred on utility grades of cattle.

To save the $2 billion Missouri dairy industry, he urged that a subsidy of $1 per hundredweight on whole milk be paid to dairy farmers, starting at once and continuing until May 31.

Other points in the seven-part MFA program recommended: A $1 billion emergency appropriation by Congress for drought aid in Missouri and other stricken states.

Release of surplus grain and surplus seeds held by the Commodity Credit Corporation to farmers through regular trade channels.

Deferring Farm Credit Administration loan and interest payments for one year.

Thirty year loans to farmers for drilling wells where water supplies are exhausted.

Reviewing the extent of the disaster in Missouri, Heinkel reported the prolonged hot, dry weather has brought thousands of farmers to the brink of bankruptcy, their borrowing power exhausted.

He said the problem is too big now for the state to handle after three straight drought years, but the federal government can help them keep their land and herds "instead of migrating to our cities to swell the ranks of the unemployed."

A decision on the request was to be announced later.

PSCTakes New Look At Water In Springfield

August 16 Set For Public Hearing Into Huge Water Shortage

JEFFERSON CITY, July 22 (AP)—The State Public Service Commission agreed today to take another look at the water problems of Springfield, Mo., and set a public hearing for Aug. 16.

Springfield, a growing city of more than 75,000 in southwestern Missouri, has been sharply restricted in water use in this third year of drought. Meanwhile the Springfield City Water Co., a privately owned utility, is going ahead with plans for $2½ million additional reservoir project.

But the city complained to the state utility regulating body that the drought is continuing while the additional water storage project won't be completed for a year or more.

Gerald Gleason, city attorney, and W. E. Hansen, city manager, told the commission that shrubs, trees and lawns are dying and that the water customers must pay the minimum water rate despite the fact they do not have a normal supply available.

They asked the commission to force the company to find an emergency supply so the city will have at least 14 million gallons of water available a day—about twice the amount available now under the restriction orders.

City officials said the company should be penalized if the emergency measures are not taken within 60 days.

Spokesmen for the company said they were doing everything they could. They said they expected rain to come soon to take the heat off the situation and build up the dwindling supply of water in the present reservoir on the Little Sac River, McDaniel Lake.

They said the time necessary to take any of the emergency measures the city suggested would be greater than the period nature will require.

The city countered that it looked like the dry weather will continue. What then? Hansen asked.

One of the commissioners, Henry McKay Cary, said it looked to him as though everyone in Missouri must count on rain.

If Missouri doesn't get substantial rains in the next two or three days it won't be just Springfield's water situation that will be tough—"We'll all be headed for the hot spot," he said.

The city suggested that the company spend some $1½ million for an emergency pipeline and pumps to bring water from Bennett Springs or Hahatonka Springs. Both lie 50 or more miles to the north and east of Springfield.

His plea in federal district court here was to a 30-count indictment charging him with exporting $66,941 from 17 contractors.

Ralph L. Wright, Sr., former business agent of the AFL, pleaded innocent to an indictment charging him with extorting $6,100 from three contractors.

Two Sedalia Girls on Teenage Trip of Presbyterian Church

Two Sedalia teen-age girls, Miss Berlene Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Curtis, 1516 South Missouri, and Miss Charlotte Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Houston, 1601 West 14th, left Mexico, Missouri, Sunday with a group of 60 teen-agers on a trip that will include nine different states, Washington, D.C., and Canada.

Berlene and Charlotte are members of the Broadway Presbyterian Church and the tour, called the East Westminister Fellowship Caravan, is sponsored by the Presbyterian Churches of the United States of America. The purpose is to acquaint the young people with what the church's money does at missions, how it serves the youth and furthers education of young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis took the two girls to Mexico where they joined the others for the two-weeks trip. There were two four-bound buses with three or four adult chaperones on each bus and also a registered nurse. The tour was planned and is directed by the Rev. Charles Andrus, Hannibal.

Leaving Mexico they spent the first night in Vincennes, Ind., and the second night at Wootton, Ky., where a brother of John Schondelmeyer, Sedalia, is minister at the mission. July 19 they were at Forest Hills Mission at Morris Fork, Ky.; July 20, at the mission at Wootton, Ky.; July 21, at Warren Wilson Junior College, Swannanoa, N. C.; Thursday and Sunday night at Raleigh, N. C. On Friday they will be at the Richmond Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va.; July 24, at Washington, D. C.; Sunday and Sunday night at Mt. Airy Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, Pa.; then to New York City, New Jersey, Niagara Falls, London, Ontario, Canada; Detroit, Mich.; South Bend, Ind., and then back to Mexico.

Refuse Rate Increase

JEFFERSON CITY, July 22 (AP)—The Missouri Public Service Commission, refused today to let the Warren Telephone Co. increase local rates $9,228 a year.

The PSC said proposed increases which the company claimed would increase its expenses were "too speculative" to justify the increase. Commission accountants figured the proposed boost would amount to 40.8 percent of the company's current local revenue.

The firm serves 982 customers and some of them had complained that the proposed increase was excessive. It was the first time in months that the commission had flatly rejected an entire rate hike sought by a telephone company.

15 Year Old Drowns

ST. LOUIS, July 22 (AP)—Robert Sidney Young, 15, drowned today in the Mississippi River here while with eight other boys who were swimming in the river.

The youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Young called for assistance while about 50 feet from shore.

Oscar Bridged, 19, one of his companions, said "I swam to his assistance but he broke loose when I grabbed his arm, and went under."

Hennings Slaps To GOP Farm Appointments

Accuses GOP Farm Committee Members Selected By Spoils

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) contended today the Republican party and Secretary of Agriculture Benson are turning farmer committees "into part of the Republican party spoils system."

He urged that the Senate agriculture appropriation subcommittee make a special investigation of "the administration's mess in Missouri."

Hennings said in a prepared Senate speech that through a series of regulations and reorganizations by Benson "top-down" dictation is being substituted for free elections and grassroots franchise in Missouri.

"I am advised that the Missouri operation is being watched by the spoilsmen in other states," he added.

Hennings said the system of farm committees to operate and advise on local and national farm programs and policies has been in the past on the whole non-partisan.

He said that President Eisenhower in his campaign promised to eliminate "aggrants" and return control of farm programs to "the grass roots."

Instead, Hennings said that Secretary Benson has installed "a device to put into effect policies determined by federal and state agrarians" rather than farmer committees.

As a result, Hennings said cost of administering various farm programs had climbed 13 million dollars above the 1950 costs under a Democratic administration.

This was due by installing county managers to administer the farm programs and preventing committees from serving more than three annual terms, he said.

Hennings offered what he said was a letter from the vice chairman of the Missouri Republican State Committee, Mrs. L. C. Davis, proposing that 4,300 employees of the farmer organizations "be Republicans."

"In actual performance, the great crusade has turned Missouri into a cauldron of soils politics," Hennings said. "There has been trouble all over Missouri—in county after county—as the Republican party has conducted a crusade to turn the farmer committee office into a part of the Republican spoils system."

Soybeans Remain Low But Other Grains Increase

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP)—Soybeans broke sharply on the Board of Trade again today as the rest of the market righted itself after the previous session's drop.

An easier trend was apparent in all pits at the opening, but only in soybeans were the losses large. Trading was quiet. As the day wore on a little timid demand entered wheat and corn and they both forged ahead for moderate gains.

Wheat closed 1 to 1½ cents higher, corn 1½ to 2½ cents higher. Oats unchanged to ¼ cent lower, rye 1½ to 2½ cents higher, and soybeans 7¼ to 10 cents lower.

Soybeans still were showing the effect of moisture in sections of the main producing belt Tuesday night and Wednesday.

Wheat encountered only mild hedging pressure and there did not appear to be much nervousness about the possibility farmers might turn down wheat marketing quotas in tomorrow's referendum.

A similar referendum last year resulted in 87 of every 100 voters approving quotas.

The prospect of early buying of wheat by West Germany was a factor behind the price rise today.

Col. Thomas J. Hayes III, Omaha district engineer of the U. S. Army engineers, said it was expected that the work would be close in July, 1958.

The MBIAC set its 76th meeting for Sept. 8-9 in Sidney, Mont.

Report Jewelry Theft

KEOKUK, Ia., July 22 (AP)—A St. Louis jewelry salesman today reported the theft of about $35,000 to $40,000 worth of jewelry in three sample cases from a store here.

Police said the estimate of the loss was made by Richard A. Shoninger, salesman for the Bauman-Missa Jewelry Co., of St. Louis, who had left the sample cases there overnight.

The sample cases contained diamond bridal sets, platinum and diamond watches, rings and other items.

Authorities here expressed belief the burglar may have followed Shoninger here, possible from St. Louis. He left St. Louis Monday and spent two nights at Quincy, Ill., before arriving here yesterday.

Plan To Create Anti-Commie Defense Group

Will Warm Reds Not To Trespass Further In Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The United States and Britain have agreed to join in calling an international conference of about 10 nations by Sept. 1 to create an anti-Communist Southeast Asian Alliance. Consultations with friendly nations which may participate are already being held.

The aim of the conference will be to conclude a defensive treaty that would post "no trespassing" warnings for the Communists along the borders of South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia in Indochina, and of Thailand and Burma.

The British agreement to hold a meeting by Sept. 1 apparently represents a concession on timing by Foreign Secretary Eden. Earlier information had been that Eden believed many months would be required to work out the proposed pact.

Secretary of State Dulles had sought creation of the alliance as a matter of urgency. He believes immediate creation of anti-Communist strength in Southeast Asia is necessary in view of Communist gains through the Indochina peace settlement reached at Geneva yesterday.

While there was no immediate official announcement of the American-British agreement or of the diplomatic arrangements already under way, State Department press officer Lincoln White fully pressed information privately available on the subject when he met reporters at a news conference.

He said that consultations were under way but that details regarding the conference have to be worked out. When pressed to state whether he was confirming that a conference would be held, he said: "I think the implication of what I have said is that a conference is in the offing."

The exact date and place of the conference remain to be determined in talks with the other governments which may attend. Consultations with the French regime of Premier Mendes-France, heretofore preoccupied with the Indochina peace negotiations, are expected to begin at once. Some other friendly governments like Thailand, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand are already definitely counted in as a result of consultations already held.

The British government is sounding out India's Prime Minister Nehru and leaders of Indonesia, Ceylon, Burma and Pakistan on participation. Washington has no real hope that Nehru, a neutralist in the cold war, will be willing to join in, and doubts the wisdom of including Pakistan, which is regarded as more importantly linked to Middle-Eastern security through a pact with Turkey. Burma and Ceylon might cooperate, but no optimism is felt about Indonesia's government, which is as neutralist as that of India.

The status of the Indochina states of south Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia is uncertain. Experts here say that under the Geneva agreement it is unclear whether these states are free or will consider themselves free to join in even a defensive alliance. But this is not considered too grave a problem since the alliance could be made to cover them in the same manner that the Inter-American defense treaty protection extends to Greenland and Canada even though they are not members.

Washington officials are uncertain, in view of these questions, precisely what the make-up of the conference will be. The hard core will be seven countries—Britain, New Zealand, France, the United States, Australia, Thailand and the Philippines. Enough others may come in to make the total about 10.

Most of these attending the meeting were guards. Another session was scheduled for tonight for daytime employees.

Burns said the principal union goal will be a five-day, 40-hour week, to replace the present six-day, 48-hour week. He told the union employees higher salaries would depend on legislative appropriation.

He reported the employees of six state hospitals and the St. Louis Welfare Division office already are organized as local units of the AFL union.

Will Review Money Case

JEFFERSON CITY, July 22 (AP)—The Missouri supreme court agreed today to review a money dispute between Kansas City and the Kansas City police board.

The court gave the city 30 days to present its side of the case, which was brought by the police board in an effort to get a greater share of the city's general revenue.

The police department is a state agency but is financed from city funds.

Just to indicate what effects the heat can have, the Democrat has been trying to induce the cool front to move in faster by running next week's date lines on this week's pages. Even the TVs' have got the flutters. Great balls of fire! Get out the salt box.

A strange animal is frightening farmers near Hancock, Md. They say the animal's wild screams resemble the scream of an hysterical woman. Those hill-country Marylanders sure know the kind of noises that frighten them.

Blame the heat for an innovation in Hartford, Conn. Peeping Toms are being superceded by Peeping Blondes who "run like the dickens" according to the male member of the family who chased her. This could develop into an entertaining sport and also give pa a valid excuse to get loose for an evening out.

Mendes-France Reports Pact To French National Assembly

Deputies Greet Premier Warmly While He Tells That The Indochina Armistice Was The Best Possible But Hardly A Happy French Settlement

PARIS, July 22 (AP)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France reported to the National Assembly today that the Indochina peace he negotiated at Geneva was cruel but that it was the best bargain to be had and it ended a nightmare for France.

He was immediately attacked by Frederic DuPont, a member of the government of Joseph Laniel which Mendes-France displaced.

DuPont accused the Premier of throwing away advantages in the Geneva negotiations and implied that the Laniel government, if allowed to stay in office, could have had peace and perhaps on better terms.

Reporting to the National Assembly on the Geneva negotiations after his return this morning, Mendes-France was received with a warm welcome by the deputies including the Communists. The Assembly applauded as he mounted the rostrum, and again after his 45-minute address. He had promised the Assembly he would resign unless he succeeded in negotiating a cease-fire by July 20—a deadline he missed by only a few hours.

"I have no illusions and I do not want anyone to have any illusions on the contents of the agreements," Mendes-France said. "The text is sometimes cruel. It separates facts which were cruel. It was not possible to do otherwise."

The next step, he said, must be to help the reconstruction of southern Viet Nam and to put the French economy on a sound basis.

"France must follow a generous and realistic policy" in southern Viet Nam, he said, adding that instructions already have been given French officials to turn over all functions to Vietnamese officials and to adhere to the promises of Vietnamese independence.

Mendes-France paid tribute to the support given by the United States at Geneva. He also had high praise for British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Minister Y. M. Molotov, who, he said, had been helpful and conciliatory in the closing stages.

The reference to Molotov brought laughs from the right side of the Assembly.

The Communists in the Assembly were in an uncommonly good mood. They applauded Mendes-France, stood when he addressed the Assembly, and paid tribute to fallen French soldiers in Indochina and even applauded Mendes-France's laudatory comments on Eden.

Penitentiary Workers Sign Up In AFL Union

JEFFERSON CITY, July 22 (AP)—About 35 state penitentiary employees signed up today for membership in the AFL State, County and Municipal Employees union.

Organizer Frank Burns said a charter would be sought at once from the national union.

Most of these attending the meeting were guards. Another session was scheduled for tonight for daytime employees.

Burns said the principal union goal will be a five-day, 40-hour week, to replace the present six-day, 48-hour week. He told the union employees higher salaries would depend on legislative appropriation.

He reported the employees of six state hospitals and the St. Louis Welfare Division office already are organized as local units of the AFL union.

One Boy Declares He Got 'Goose Pimples' While Swimming

When the heat gets to the point of breaking the record, everybody starts thinking up ways to keep cool and the swimming pool is an ideal spot. Just what kept the water from boiling in the hot sun is a mystery but on one of the hottest days a swimmer declared he went to the pool at Liberty Park and got goose pimples.

Of course people who had to work, or try to work, didn't have that advantage and the breeze from fans didn't seem to help much. People selling air conditioning, electric fans, window fans, and soft drinks were really busy.

Probably all sorts of inventions and ideas came out of the heat wave. One boy went out to the junk yard, bought a fan out of an old car, brought it back home and hooked it up to the washing machine motor. It made a wonderful window fan, said his mother, "I don't see why he didn't think of it sooner."

People took off as many clothes as possible and some women kept smocks or easy to get into dresses handy in case someone came to the door. One man rolled up his trousers and put a wet handkerchief around his neck. That helped and he didn't care how he looked. A wet handkerchief did help and one girl found putting pieces of ice down the neck, then her dress cooled her off a bit, even if it did make her squirm now and then.

Many people remembered that birds and dogs and cats needed cold water, too, and saw to it that bird baths were kept filled and pans of water were put out for the dogs and cats whose owners

Change Plan On Drivers' Licenses

M. E. Morris, director of revenue, and Colonel Hugh H. Wagner, superintendent of the Highway Patrol have announced a change in the procedure for giving drivers' license examinations, effective Aug. 1. The change is expected to speed up the issuance of licenses to those applicants required to be examined by eliminating the delays caused by mailing notifications of examinations dates to applicants as is now done.

Under the new plan, any applicant required by law to take an examination must take the examination before making application for a license. No notices will be sent to applicants advising them when and where to report for the examination. The examiners will be available in each county on certain days and it will be the responsibility of the applicant to get to the examining station on those days to take the examination. A schedule showing when and where examinations are given will be published in the newspapers and posted in license bureaus and public buildings.

If the applicant passes the examination, he will be given a copy of the examination record which he must present to the license bureau or a notary public at the time he makes his application. The receipt given him by the license bureau or notary public when attached to the examination record will serve as a temporary license until the regular license is received from the Department of Revenue in Jefferson City.

If an applicant desires to renew an unexpired license, he must present the unexpired license at the license bureau or to a notary public at the time he makes his application. The receipt given him by the license bureau or notary public when attached to the unexpired license will serve as a temporary license until the regular license is received from the Department of Revenue in Jefferson City.

New application forms which are serially numbered will be used and no applications made on the old forms will be accepted by the Department of Revenue after Aug. 1. Notaries public who desire to take applications for operator's or chauffeur's licenses must obtain new application forms from the Department of Revenue at Jefferson City.

In order to avoid delay in receiving their licenses, applicants should examine the application form to be sure it has a number and is one of the new forms.

Two major improvements have been made in the buildings this year while two new flower beds have been added to make the grounds even more attractive.

The other major building improvement has come in the space that has been occupied for years by the Girl Scouts. This has been made into a milk bar and the dairy council of the state will operate the stand.

Behind the milk bar will be the archaeology display, which has been housed previously in the philatelic building. The Pettis County Historical Society will have charge of the archaeology display.

Bob Lee, the fair's florist, has his flower beds all in readiness for the fair and is keeping them watered so they will be at the height of their glory during fair week.

This year he has added two new flower beds, one shaped like a star and the other like the moon. They are in the south lawn of the administration building and will probably prove to be the most seen flower beds on the grounds.

The star will have red, white and blue blossoms at fairtime and the moon will be yellow colored.

People moved out in the yards at night or tried to devise some manner in which they might keep cool in the house. One man sprinkled his bed with water to cool it off before he got into it, two front feet in the water again.

Send Cables Support Mac Senate Censure

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Public relations counsel for 23 prominent citizens announced today the group is telegraphing Senate members urging them to support a proposed resolution of censure against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The telegrams endorsed a censure resolution proposed by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) as a move "to curb the flagrant abuse of power by Sen. McCarthy."

Among the announced signers are Paul G. Hoffman, former foreign aid administrator, Lewis W. Douglas, former ambassador to Britain and former budget director; Will Clayton, a former under-secretary of state, and other nationally known figures.

William Fry, public relations counsel for the group, announced the telegrams were being sent today to "most Senate members."

"The issues posed by McCarthyism override all considerations of party advantage or expediency. At stake are the integrity, dignity and authority of our highest legislative body . . .

"We believe that you should disregard party and other lesser considerations and meet this issue squarely. We urge you and your colleagues to show by your vote on this issue that the Senate of the United States is prepared to assume responsibility and deal resolutely with an abuse of power or contempt of its traditions, within its own ranks, which threatens the orderly and equitable processes of our constitutional system."

Flanders had planned to introduce a censure resolution Tuesday, but postponed his move until July 30. One reason for the postponement, Flanders said, was his desire that the vote be "as massive and bipartisan as possible."

On another section of the McCarthy front today, Sen. Mundt (R-ND) said McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee is "trying for an elemental factor in American justice" in seeking an explanation for the Defense Department's denial of clearance to Thomas W. Lavenia, office manager and assistant counsel for the subcommittee.

The Pentagon has refused to clear Lavenia to handle defense secrets and says it can't say why because that would require disclosure of confidential information.

Mundt, a senior member of the subcommittee, said: "Somebody's got to say this boy is guilty of something."

McCarthy has demanded that representatives of the Defense and Justice Departments appear at an executive session tomorrow to explain the clearance denial.

Lavenia himself told newsmen he thinks the reason he wasn't cleared was that in 1936, while attending St. John's University Law School in Brooklyn, N.Y., he had a brief association with the American Law Student Assn., a group McCarthy has termed leftist.

The Defense Department has also refused to clear Donal A. Surine who was shifted this week from the subcommittee's investigative staff to McCarthy's office payroll.

Reports the AF Bought Untested, Useless Radios

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee reported today the Air Force ordered more than 100 million dollars worth of radio sets of an "untested model" which thus far has been "so unreliable as to be of no practical use." Some of the orders have since been canceled.

The sharply critical report said that "during some periods of the Korean crisis numerous Air Force aircraft were without long-range radio equipment" because of the Air Force reliance on the untested model.

The report was filed by a subcommittee on military operations headed by Rep. Riehlman (R-NV) and approved by the full Government Operations Committee.

The subcommittee said the Air Force first contracted with the Radio Corp. of America in December, 1950, for 207 "revolutionary" long-range combination receiving-sending sets although the sets were still unproven.

The contract later was expanded. The subcommittee said the Air Force now estimates that required redesigning will run the costs under this contract to 71 millions.

The subcommittee said despite serious and obvious defects in the sets, the Air Force entered into a second contract in April, 1953, for 1,843 more sets at an estimated price of 38 million dollars. This second contract was canceled three weeks ago.

The congressman said they would not criticize limited purchase of an untested model, but they called the size of the first contract, and especially the letting of a second contract, "completely unjustifiable."

The subcommittee also noted that the Navy had experimented with sets similar to those ordered by the Air Force but "it was deemed not feasible and no procurement of the model was made."

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A 12-year-old boy was held today in the bludgeoning-slaying of a sweet-faced 8-year-old girl whom he never had known.

State Police said Gerald Savoie admitted following blonde Bonnette Dallaire into the cellar of a partly built house yesterday, then choking her and beating her on the head with a rock and a length of the pipe.

"I was seized by an idea that came into my head and I blacked out," police said the boy told them.

A workman found her dying in a pool of blood. Her father, George, a construction worker, had been employed on the site but was elsewhere at the time.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. Roberts Jr.
Associated Press News Analyst

The Indochina truce clothes numerous world problems with new aspects.

The immediate Communist return to a renewed "peace offensive" regarding Korea carries out a pattern which has been developing ever since the death of Stalin. Its chief object is to throw the free world off guard, weaken the Western will to meet new expansionist efforts, interfere with such things as the proposed European and Southeast Asian defense communities.

India's position as a Red-leaning "neutralist" force in Asia is strengthened.

With France expected to extend diplomatic recognition to Peiping, the battle for Communist Chinese membership in the United Nations—a battle conducted by Russia for the prime purpose of emphasizing Anglo-American differences on the subject—already is being renewed.

On the one hand, American disappointment over French policy in Indochina increases the demand that Paris, no longer conducting a war abroad, concentrate on the defense of Europe and go ahead with EDCC. On the other, Communist agreement to stop one way plays heavily on France's wishful thinking that it reduces the danger of another.

The French agreement to a type of election in Viet Nam closely akin to that proposed by the Reds for Korea, a type turned down flatly by the free world in the original Korean discussion, emboldens the Communist to propose another effort to reach a Korean settlement. Their expectations, of course, is that by the manipulations possible under joint elections in Communist and non-Communist territories they can win everything.

The United States feels under compulsion to create a Southeast Asian defense system to see that the Communist conquest is not extended. At present, such an organization would represent more of a warning than anything else. But the value of Allied warnings against further aggression has been seriously weakened. They said they would not permit the Korean truce to be used for expansionism elsewhere, but they did.

It was impractical for the Allies to join in a full-fledged defense of Indochina, but regardless of that impracticability they have lost a large part of the position attained when they proved their willingness to fight in Korea.

Perhaps the most important long range factor in the whole business is the deterioration of the French position as a world power. It's a dead cinch she is going to lose her small enclaves in India, and that the Tunisian and Moroccan nationalists will be emboldened by the successes of the Indochinese rebels. France not only drops from the ranks of first class power, but now even trail Red China.

This rise of Red China to a position where she can dictate to world powers contains some of the greatest portents in current history.

By her own aloofness from the Anglo-French position at Geneva, by refusing to identify herself in any way with the cease-fire agreement except to make the meaningless and unnecessary statement that she will not try to upset it by force, the United States has virtually frozen herself out of any future consultations regarding the conduct of the armistice, except possibly through the United Nations.

Russia already is playing on this situation by suggesting that the United States is heading toward isolationism—one of the greatest fears entertained among the Western Allies.

Budget Raise By House After Ike Pushes It

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The congressional budget-cutting drive was derailed today as the House under presidential prodding, added $109,156,549 to a catch-all appropriation bill.

The funds added were restorations of all or part of cuts imposed by the House Appropriations Committee in budget estimates of President Eisenhower for hospital, airport and ship construction.

Even so, the $1,303,334,628 appropriated in the bill was $556,623,639, or 33.5 per cent, below the $1,959,958,627 requested by the President for miscellaneous agencies financed in the measure. Of that cut $528,400,000 was in funds requested for military public works construction. Instead of providing all the new cash recommended for this work, the committee, and the House, decided to allocate the Army, the Navy and the Air Force to use unobligated balances of previous appropriated funds to offset most of the cut in new money.

The President apparently did not object to the committee's action on military funds but last Monday he urged his House leaders to fight for restoration of money for the airport, ship and hospital construction programs.

Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the Appropriations Committee, leader of the budget-cutting bloc, fought the amendments that added money to the bill, but a coalition of Republicans and Democrats overwhelmingly turned him down.

The bill, passed by voice vote, now goes to the Senate.
